TO THE HIGH AND MIGHTY PRINCE, IAMES,

King of Great Britaine, France, and Ireland, &c.

MOST GRACIOVS SOVERAIGNE,

ALthough I thinke not the meane fruit of my Studies worthy so great a PATRON, as your Selfe, (yet after fiftie yeares labour and experience; Now treating of Nobilitie, Honour, and Armes, which are deriued from the Fountaine of Royall authoritie of Kings and Princes, and being hereunto partly lead by vertue of my Office of a Herauld, wherein I haue serued your Majestie, and the late Queene Elizabeth of famous memorie, these fortie yeares, and more) I held it my bounden dutie, thus much at least (by humble Preface) to intimate vnto your Highnesse, that here I discouer and reforme many things heretofore grossely mistaken, and abused by ignorant persons; who venturing beyond their owne element and skill to write of this subiect, haue shewed themselues more bold and busie, then skilfull in Herauldrie, and haue thereby so troubled the cleare Fountayne of Honorable Titles and Descents, that true Nobilitie is greatly blemished and obscured thereby. For the amendment and preuention of these and the like abuses hereafter, I most humbly pray a reformation, and that Vpstarts and Mountebankes within this our profession, may bee prohibited to make their profit and credit, vpon the discredit and impouerishing of your Majesties poore Seruants the Officers of Armes, who labour daily, and spend both their bodies and substance, faithfully to preserue and keepe in Register, the Descents and Achiuements of the Nobilitie and Gentrie of this Kingdome, with their noble and worthy Acts, Marriages, Issues, and Armes, which is no easie thing now to doe. And much more harder harder it will be hereafter, if these busie bodies (catching by chance the imperfect Notes of Heraulds deceased) shall bee suffered to publish in print their owne Inuentions, as true and infallible Verities, whereby in time to come, it will bee hard to distinguish Light from Darkenesse, and Truth and Falshood, vnlesse your Princely care and feeling hereof, cause a redresse of the same.

So most humbly praying your Majesties pardon, I beseech the KING of Kings, long to continue and prosper your happy Reigne ouer vs.

Your MAIESTIES most humble deuoted Subject and Seruant,

RALPH BROOKE,

Yorke Herauld.

To the Honourable and iudicious READER.

YOu haue here a ſecond Edition of this Booke, which, I haue not onely much inlarged, with diuers good Notes, and Records, omitted in the former Impreſsion; But amended alſo, many eſcapes, and miſtakings, committed by the Printer, whilſt my ſickneſſe abſented me from the Preſſe, at the firſt publication.

Thoſe ſlips haue giuen my enuious Detracters occaſion to carpe at my labours: againſt which, I hope, they ſhall now haue no juſt cauſe of exception. But howſoeuer, I am perſwaded that euery peaceable-minded Reader, who is able to judge things of this nature, will eaſily perceiue, that they are but friuoulous Cauillers, who ſhall ſeeke to traduce my labours on this ſubject.

Aboue fiftie yeares practice, I haue had in this Profeſsion: During which time, I haue omitted no coſt, nor oportunitie to vnderſtand the truth of theſe particulars I treat of. Neither haue I beene guiltie of ſo much enuying any Family, to falſifie ought, to the diſhonour of it: nor found ſo much bountie in this Age, as (in any meaſure) to reward my long trauailes; much leſſe, to bee hyred to inſert ought vntrue, for the honour of particular Houſes. And therefore, as in reſpect of my long experience, and great paines, it is not likely, that young Nouices can be eaſily able to diſproue me: So, it is not probable (nor hauing, nor needing a bribe from any man) that I would to no purpoſe, in this my old age, endanger my credit, and make vaine, all my labour, by leauing to Poſteritie a Catalogue of vntruthes.

If you weigh from what vncertayne intelligences, many men doe now adayes, gather their Notes; How much they take vp on truſt to others credites; How frequently they are deceiued in the Names, Beginnings, and Titles of Noble Families, becauſe they haue not alwayes Records to make good what they deliuer: you would graunt that it were no ſtrange matter, for an ancient Herauld, to ſet forth thoſe things which may appeare vntrue to ſuch, as miſſecenſure all men, who affirme not; juſt that, which their owne few papers informe them of. For my owne part, I haue reaſon to thinke my ſelfe aſwell furniſhed to performe this worke with as much exactneſſe as an other man; hauing gotten into my cuſtodie the collections of moſt the principall Heraulds deceaſed before, and during my time (and without oſtentation bee it ſpoken) hold my Librarie better furniſhed then the Office of Armes. And if I haue failed in ſome things (which is not impoſsible in ſuch a taske as this) thoſe who will goe about to cenſure mee, ſhall faile in many more materiall points whenſoeuer they vndertake the like imployment.

Seeing

Seeing then, all contradictions, are not to be receiued as vndenyable truths (and foraſmuch, as I neither haue, nor looke for, other recompence of my trauailes, ſaue onely, your fauourable cenſures) I deſire, that if my Detractors, ſhall hereafter, continue their calumniations; you would be pleaſed; First, to compare our experiences; Secondly, to obſerue my intent in writing, with theirs in cauelling; Thirdly, to conceiue, how much more painefull it is, to compile a laborious Volume, then to carpe at it. And when you haue ſo done, I make no doubt of your approbation, ſo farforth as I ſhall deſerue.

To Poſteritie.

FVll fiftie Winters are now ſpent, ſince I,
First learn'd the Elements of Herauldrie,
Twice twentie alſo, are expired ſince,
I firſt was ſworne a ſeruant to my Prince;
And with much paine, expence of time and coſt,
Many heapes of worne Records haue turn'd and toſt,
To make thoſe Names aliue againe appeare,
Which in obliuion well-nigh buried were.
That ſo your Children may auoid the jarres,
Which might ariſe about their Anceſters:
And that the Liuing might thoſe Titles ſee,
With which their Names and Houſes honour'd bee,
For which my tedious trauaile (in the ſtead
Of loue, of thanks, and that deſerued meed,
Which is my due) I daily am perſu'de
With ſpightfull enuie, and ingratitude,
Yea (now my aged bones deſired reſt)
Vnder the frownes of Greatneſſe, am oppreſt
And cruſhed lye, becauſe (I thinke) this Booke
Performes, too iuſtly, what I vndertooke.
Yet I haue hope of more acceptance from
Thoſe future Times that after me ſhall come,
For when beneath the ſtroke of Death I fall,
And thoſe that liue, thoſe Leaues examine ſhall,
Detraction dying, you that doe remaine
Will credit me, and thanke me for my paine.

A CATALOGVE OF THE KINGS OF ENGLAND, SINCE THE NORMAN Conqueſt, their Armes, Wiues and Children.

WIlliam, ſur-named the Conqueror (couſin vnto King Edward the Confeſſour, in the third and fourth Degree) baſe Sonne of Robert the ſixth Duke of Normandie, begotten of Arlet his Concubine, Daughter of a Skinner, and Burgeſſe of the Citie of Faloys; who hauing ouerthrowne and ſlaine King Herauld in Battell, was vpon Chriſtmaſ-day, in the yeare of Chriſt 1066. Crowned King of England (not by Stigand Archbiſhop of Canterburie, becauſe he was a verie proud and lewde liuer) but by Aldred Archbiſhop of Yorke; at which time, the ſaid William cauſed both the Biſhips and Noblemen of the Realme; to ſweare fealtie to him before S. Peters Altar at Weſtminſter. Hee Married Mauld, Daughter of Baldwin de Iſle, the fifth Earle of Flanders, ſur-named the Gentle, who dyed the ſecond day of Nouember, 1083. and was Buried at Cane in Normandie, in Saint Maries Church: and William Conqueroùr her Husband dyed at Roane; on Thurſday the eight of the Ides of September 1087. the fiftie one of his Dukedome of Normandie, the twentie one of his Kingdome of ENGLAND, and of his Age the ſeuentie foure, and was Buried at Cane in Saint Stephens Church, which hee before had built. This noble Conquerour, when hee firſt entred England, chanced at his Landing to ſticke faſt in the Sands, whereupon one of his companie caught him by the Arme; ſaying, Stand vp my Lord, and be of good cheare, for you haue taken faſt footing in England; and ſeeing him bring vp Sand and Earth in his hand, ſaid further, That he had taken Liuerie and Seiſin of the Countrie. He had Iſſue foure Sonnes, and ſixe Daughters.

For the Authorie of the Armes of the Kings of England, from William Conquerors time, to King Richard the firſt, I find none of any credite, but what hath beene vſed by traditions, that will I ſet downe as I find them.

William Conqueror (as it is ſaid) vſed the Armes of Rollo the Dane, and firſt Duke of Normandie, which he beares as belonging to the Dukedome of Normandie: Gueulles, deux Lyans paſſant gardant, D'or.

The Iſſue of William the Conqueror.

Robert, ſur-named Curtuoiſe (which is Short Bootes) beeing Duke of Normandie, was taken Priſoner at Tenarchbray in Normandie, in the yeare 1106. and by commandement of King Henrie his Brother, he had both his Eyes put out, and dyed in the Caſtle of Cardiffe, in the yeare 1134. when he had beene Priſoner there twentie eight yeares, and was Buried at Gloceſter. He Married Sibill, Siſter of William Earle of Conuerſana in Italy, by whom he had Iſſue, William and Henrie.

Richard, ſecond Sonne of William Conqueror, was ſlaine in the New-Forreſt by a Stagge, and was Buried at Wincheſter.

William the third Sonne, ſur-named Rufus of his Red haire, ſerued vnder his Father, at the Battell of Gerberoth in Normandie, where hee was wounded. After being King, and Hunted in the New Forreſt the ſecond of Auguſt, Walter Tirrell a French Knight, ſhot him with a Arrow, whereof he preſently dyed, in the yeare 1100. hauing Reigned twelue yeares and eleuen Moneths, being fortie and three yeares old.

Henrie the fourth Sonne was borne at Selby in Yorkeſhire 1070. and ſur-named Beauclarke (or fine Scholler) was by his Father Knighted at Weſtminſter, in the yeare 1086.

Cicely eldeſt Daughter, borne in Normandie, was Abbeſſe at Cane, where ſhee dyed without Iſſue.

Conſtance the ſecond Daughter, Married to Alan Earle of Britaine, ſur-named Fergant, dyed without Iſſue, and was buried at Saint Edmondsburie in Suffolke. This is that Conſtance, which the honeſt-man Dolman, alias Parſons, ſetteth downe to haue Iſſue, Conan le Groſſe, the ſecond Duke of Britaine, and Conan le Groſſe, to haue Iſſue Hoell, diſ-inherited by his Father; and Bertha Married to Eudo Earle of Porret.

Alice the third Daughter, was Married to Stephen, Earle of Bloys in France, and had Iſſue, King Stephen and others; and after profeſſed her ſelfe a Nunne, at Marciquy in France, and was there buried.

Ela

Ela, in her childhood was promiſed in Marriage to King Herauld of England, but he refuſed her, and Married another; by reaſon whereof, ſhee died vnmarried without iſſue.

Gundred the fift Daughter, Married William de Warren, a Noble man of Normandie, whom William Conqueror made Earle of Surrey, by whom ſhee had iſſue, William the ſecond Earle Warren and Surrey, and died in childe-bed, at Caſtle-Acre in Norfolke, and was buried at Lewis in Suſſex, 1085.

Margaret the ſixt Daughter, promiſed to Alphonſus King of Gallicia in Spaine, and died without iſſue.

William Peuerell, baſe ſonne of William Conqueror, was Lord of Nottingham, and had iſſue, a ſonne alſo called William.

King WILLIAM RVFVS.

William Rouſe or Rufus, ſurnamed of his red haire, the third Sonne of William Conqueror. This William ſerued vnder his Father at the battaile of Gerberoth in Normandy, where he was wounded: He began his Reigne of King of England, the ninth day of September, in the yeare of our Lord, 1087. and was crowned at Weſtminſter, by Lanfranke Archbiſhoppe of Canterbury, the firſt day of October. It happened that (as he was hunting in the New Forreſt) he was informed, that the French-men had ſtrongly beſieged the Citie of Conſtancia in Normandy, whereupon (leauing his ſports) with great expedition he poſted to the ſea, without any preparation for ſuch a iourney, and comming there, leapt into a Barke, commanding the Maryners to weigh their Anchors, and to hoyſe their ſayles; but the violence of a ſtorme being great, they refuſed to doe the ſame, whereat the King was much offended, ſaying, that they neuer heard that a King was drowned by tempeſt of winds, and ſo forced them to go forwards. He was red coloured, his hayre ſomewhat yellow, his eyes not one like another; of meane ſtature, ſomewhat big bellied, he was very variable, inconſtant, couetous and cruell; he ouer-burdened his Subiects with vnreaſonable taxes, pilled the rich, and oppreſſed the poore. And beeng a hunting in the New Forreſt, the firſt day of Auguſt, in the yeare 1100. Sir Walter Tirrell a French Knight, ſhooting at a Deere vnawares, ſmote him in the breaſt, that he fell downe ſtarke dead, and neuer ſpake word. His body being conuayed to Wincheſter, was there buried in the 43. yeare of his age, hauing raigned almoſt thirteene yeeres, leauing no iſſue of his body to ſucceed him. Les armes de ſon pere.

King HENRIE the firſt.

Henrie, the firſt and youngeſt Sonne of William Conquerour, was borne at Selby in Yorkſhire, 1070. and for his learning was called Beauclarke; he was brought vp in the ſtudy of the liberall Arts at Cambridge, vnder Henry Newborough Earle of Warwicke. Hee began his Reigne the firſt of Auguſt, and was crowned at Weſtminſter, by Maurice Biſhop of London, (Anſelme Biſhop of Canterbury beeing then in exile) the fift of Auguſt 1100. Hee was ſtrong and mightie of body, high of ſtature, amiable of countenance, blacke haired, faire eyes, broad breaſted, well in fleſh, full of merry conceits, excellent in wit, eloquent in ſpeech, and fortunate in battaile: and for theſe, he had three notable vices, couetouſneſſe, cruelty, and letchery. In his time it was a cuſtome, that Bookes, Bills, and Letters, ſhould be drawne and ſigned for Petitioners in the Court, concerning their own matters, without fee paying, at which time Thurſton le Diſpencer the Kings Steward, exhibited his complaint to the King againſt Adam of Yarmouth Clarke of the Signet, for that he refuſed to ſigne his Bill without fee. The King examining the cauſe, the Clarke was heard firſt, and confeſſed, that when he receiued the Booke, he ſent vnto the ſaid Steward, deſiring him onely to beſtowe of him two ſpice-cakes, made for the Kings own mouth, who anſwered, he would not, and thereupon he denied to ſeale his Book: The King greatly blamed the Steward for his deniall, and made Adam to ſit downe vpon the bench with the Seale, and Thurſtons booke, and commanded his Steward to put off his cloake, and to fetch two of the beſt ſpice-cakes for the Kings owne mouth, in a faire white napkyn, and with a curteſie to preſent them to Adam the Clarke, which done, the King commaunded Adam to ſeale and deliuer the Booke, adding this ſpeach; Officers of the Court muſt gratifie, and ſhew a caſt of their Office, not onely one to an other, but alſo to all ſtrangers, whenſoeuer they ſhall require. Hee married two wiues, the firſt was Mauld, daughter of Malcolme Canmoir, King of Scotland, (otherwiſe Malcolme with the great head) ſhee was married to him at London, in the yeare 1100. and liued with him 17. yeares, and died in May, in the yeare 1118. and was buried at S. Peters Church at Weſtminſter, leauing iſſue one ſonne and a daughter; ſhee built a houſe for leapers neere London, called S. Gyles in the field.

His

His second wife was Adelicia, daughter of Godfrey, first Duke of Lovaine, and sister of another Godfrey, and Iocelyn of Louaine: Shee was married the 29. of Ianuary, 1121. and continued his wife fifteene yeares, but had no issue by him. Shee was after married to William de Albeney Earle of Arundell, by whom she had issue, Wiliam the second Earle of Arundell, Godfrey, and Ioane married to Iohn Earle of Angi. This Henrie died of a surfet at Dennises, in the Forrest of Lions in Normandy, the first day of December, in the yeare 1135. beeing about 67. yeares old, hauing reigned King 35. yeares and foure Moneths.

In this Henry, ended the line of the heyres male of the Norman Kings, having reigned heere 69. yeares, after whom came the French, by marrying the heyre generall. Les armoiries de son peré.

The Issue of King HENRIE the first.

WIlliam, Sonne of King Henrie and Queene Mauld his first wife, was borne in the yeare 1102. and being fourteene yeeres olde, the Nobilitie did him homage, and three yeares after, he married Mary, the daughter of Foulke Earle of Aniou; and the same yeare was made Duke of Normandy, for which he did homage to King Lewis the Grosse of France, and after was drowned, comming out of Normandy into England, the 26. of Nouember, 1120. beeing then eighteene yeares of age, leauing no issue of his bodie.

Mauld, the onely Daughter of King Henry the first, by Mauld his first wife, was borne the fourth yeare of her Fathers Reigne, and was married to the Emperour Henry the fourth, for his second wife, beeing but seauen yeares olde at her espousing, and remarried and crowned at eleuen, at Mentz in Germany, in the yeare 1114. with whom she continued twelue yeares, and out-liued him, but had no issue by him. After she married Geffrie Plantaginet, Earle of Aniou sonne of Foulke king of Ierusalem, in the yeare 1127. and had issue, Henry after King of England; Geffery, Earle of Nantes in Britaine; and Wiliam, Earle of Poytou: Shee was his wife 23. yeares, and a widdow 17. yeares, and after dyed in Roan, 1167. and was buried at Bec Abbey in Normandy.

RObert (of some Writers called the Consul of Gloceſter) base sonne of King Henry the first, begotten of Nest, the daughter of Rice ap Teuder, the great Prince of South Wales, who was after married to Girald de Windsore, Constable of the Castle of Penbroke. This Robert maried Mabel, daughter of Robert Fitz-Hamond, Lord of Glamorgan, by whom hee had issue, William Earle of Gloceſter, and others, as in the Title of Earles of Gloceſter is more at large.

Reginald, baſe ſonne of King Henry the firſt, begotten of the daughter of Robert Corbet, of Alenceſter in Warwickeſhire, had iſſue, foure daughters his heires, as in the Title of Earles of Cornwall, is more at large.

Henry ſlaine in Angleſey in North-Wales without iſſue.

Richard, Marie and Margaret were drowned, with their brother VVilliam, comming out of Normandy into England, 1120.

Conſtance married to the Viſcount Beaumont (or Bello-monte) of the county of Mayne in France, by whom ſhee had iſſue, Richard Viſcount Beamont, Rafe biſhop of and Armengard wife to VVilliam King of Scots; which Richard had iſſue, Phillip and Conſtance.

Iulian Counteſſe of Paſſy.

King STEPHEN.

Stephen, Earle of Mortaine and Bolloigne in Picardie, third Sonne of Stephen, Earle of Bloys & Champaigne, begotten of Alice, the third Daughter of William the Conqueruor and Queene Mauld; was Crowned King on Saint Stephens day, by William Atchbiſhop of Canterburie, at Weſtminſter 1135. by the plotting of his yonger Brother Henrie, who was Biſhop of Wincheſter, and Abbot of Gloſtenburie, and who had drawne vnto his faction, William Archbiſhop of Canterburie, the verie firſt man that before had ſworne fealtie to Queene Mauld the Empreſſe, and to ſtir vp the Nobilitie of the Realme againſt the ſaide Mauld, proteſting, that it was baſeneſſe for ſo many great Peeres to bee ſubiect vnto a woman. And further to helpe forward this miſchieuous plot, (another of the ſame brood) Roger Biſhop of Salisburie, the late Kings Treaſurer, proteſted, that the Nobilitie were free from the Oath they had before made to Mauld the Empreſſe, by reaſon that ſhee had married Geffery Plantaginet, without their priuitie and conſent, (as though free Princes could not marrie without the conſent of their Subiects) which falſe inſtigations of theſe wicked Biſhops, made the Nobilitie to forſweare themſelues, in ſwearing fealtie vnto King Stephen an Vſurper. And theſe were the fruits of theſe honeſt Churchmen, who were the cauſe, and loſſe alſo of many a mans life. This Stephen married Mauld, daughter of Euſtace Earle of Bolloigne, Brother of Godfrey and Baldwin kings of Ieruſalem, by whom hee had iſſue, three ſonnes and two daughters: he reigned eighteene yeares, ten moneths, and odde dayes, and died at Douer the twentie fiue of October, 1154. beeing fortie nine yeares olde, and was buried at Feuerſham in Kent, where his Queene and Sonne were alſo buried. Shee died at Heningham ningham Caſtle in Eſſex, the third of May, 1151. It is ſaid, that King Stephen entring this Realme, the ſigne being in Sagittarius, and obtaining great victory by helpe of his Archers, aſſumed the Sagittarius for his Armes. Et portoit, gueulles a Sagitarius d'or.

The Iſſue of King STEPHEN.

Aldwyn the eldeſt Sonne, died in his infancie, and was buryed at London, in the Priory of the Trinitie within Aldgate, founded by Queene Mauld, wife to King Henrie the firſt.

Euſtace ſecond Sonne, was by his Father created Earle of Bolloigne, and married Conſtance, ſiſter of Lewis the ſeuenth King of France, and died without iſſue the tenth of Auguſt, 1152. and was buried at Feuerſham.

William the third Sonne, married Iſabel, daughter and heire of William the third Earle of Warren and Surrey, in whoſe right he was Earle Warren and Surrey, Lord of Norwich and Peuenſey, Earle Mortaine, and Lord of the Egle in Normandy. He died in his retutne from Tholouz, in the yeare, 1160.

Mauld, the eldeſt Daughter of King Stephen dyed young, and was buried at London, in the Priorie of the Trinitie within Aldgate, cald Chriſt-Church, now the Dukes place.

Marie, ſecond Daughter of King Stephen, was Abbeſſe of the Nunnery at Rumſey in Hampſhire; after ſhe forſooke her habite, and married Matthew, Brother of Philip Earle of Flanders, who (in her right) was Earle of Bolloigne, and had iſſue, Ida and Mauld.

M. Camden ſaith, he had a baſe ſonne named Geruaſe, which was Abbot of Weſtminſter, and died in the yeare, 1160.

King HENRIE the ſecond.

HEnrie, the ſecond of that Name, (ſur-named Short-mantle, borne in France) Sonne of Gefferie Plantaginet, Earle of Aniou, and Mauld the Empreſſe, Daughter of King Henrie the firſt; began his Reigne ouer this Realme of England, the twentieth day of October, 1154. His firſt comming was to Wincheſter, where the Nobles of the Realme came vnto him, of whom he tooke homage and fealty: then comming to London, he was crowned at Weſtminſter by Theobald Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the ſeuenteenth of December, 1154. beeing then twentie three yeares of age. Hee choſe to be of his Counſell, the graueſt and wiſeſt he could finde, and ſuch as were beſt experienced in the Lawes of the Land. He expelled by pub-like Proclamation, all ſtrangers out of the Land, who had ſwarmed into England, in time of variance betweene King Stephen and him: amongſt whom, William of Ypers Earle of Kent, was alſo compelled to begone; taking into his hands all ſuch lands and poſſeſſions as pertained to the Crowne, which had been before alienated and made away to any perſon of what degree ſoeuer. From Hugh Mortimer, he tooke the Caſtles of Clebery, Wigmore, and Bridgnorth. He knighted Malcome King of the Scots at Turwyn in France, for his good ſeruice at Tholouze, in the yeare 1159. with theſe words; Soyes bon Chevalier d'ore ſenauant au nom de Dieu: Be from hence-forth a good Knight, in the name of God. Hee married Elianor, daughter and ſole heyre of William Duke of Aquitaine, Earle of Poictiers and Tholouze, the fift of that name, (begotten of the daughter of Raymond, Earle of Tholouze) This Elianors Title, was the chiefe cauſe of thoſe bloody warres betwixt England and France; yea, and the Bellowes that blew that vnnaturall diſcord, betwixt the Father and his Sonnes. Shee ouer-liued her Husband, and did ſee three of her Sonnes to be Kings; and died the third of the Kalends of Aprill, 1204. This Henrie died the ſixt day of July, 1189. in the ſixtie one yeare of his age, when he had reigned thirty-foure yeares, nine moneths, and two dayes, and was buried at Founteuerald, in the Dutchy of Alanſon, neere to the Towne of the Egle. Li portoit, gueulles au deux leopard paſſant d'or.

The Iſſue of King HENRY the ſecond and Queene ELIANOR his Wife.

William eldeſt Sonne, borne in the yeare, 1152. to whom the Nobility ſware fealty at the Caſtle of Wallingford in Berkſhire; he died in the yeare 1156. beeing but fiue yeares olde, and was buried at Reading, by his great Grandfather, Henrie the firſt.

Henry the ſecond Sonne, after the death of William his Brother, was Duke of Normandy, Earle of Aniou and Mayne, and was crowned King in the life time of his Father, the fifteenth of Iune, 1170. His wife was Margaret, daughter of Lewis the younger, King of France, and was married at Newburgh in Normandy, 1160. and ſhe was after crowned Queen at Wincheſter, 1163. He died at Marcell in Touraine, the eleuenth of Iune, 1182. and was buried at Roan.

Richard the third Sonne, was borne at Oxford, 1157. and was ſur-named of the French Cuer-de-Lyon. He was firſt created Earle of Poyctou, and had the whole Dutchy of Aquitaine, for which he did his homage to King Lewis the younger of France, 1170. After he fell at variance with his Father, and maintained wars againſt him: but he was afterwards reconciled into his Fathers loue againe, and ſucceeded him in his Kingdome.

Geffrey the fourth Sonne, borne the fift yeare of his Fathers reigne: married Conſtance, daughter and heyre of Conan Duke of Britaine, and did his homage for the ſame to his brother Henry, and died at Paris, 1186. the nineteenth nineteenth of Auguſt, and was buried in our Lady Church there, hauing iſſue, Arthur Duke of Britaine, borne after his Fathers death; and a daughter named Elianor, which died in priſon, in King Henry the thirds time. This Conſtance was alſo married to Randoll Earle of Cheſter.

Philip the fift Sonne, was borne in the fifteenth yeare of his Fathers Reigne, and died young, and was buried in S. Pauls Church in London.

Iohn the ſixt Sonne, was borne in the yeare 1166. and ſur-named Sanz-terre, without Land; becauſe when he was King, he reſigned his Crowne and Kingdome to the Pope: which Pandulphus his Legate kept (for the ſpace of foure dayes) to the Popes vſe. He was created Earle of Mortaigne and had withall the Earledomes of Cornwall, Gloceſter, Derby, and Lancaſter, the Honours of Wallingford and Nottingham, and laſtly was King of England.

Mauld the eldeſt Daughter, was borne in the third yeere of her Fathers Reigne, and Married Henrie, ſurnamed the Lyon, Duke of Saxonie and Sardinia; ſhee ſuruiued her husband, and died in the firſt yeere of King Richard the firſt, and was after Buried by her Husband in the Church of Saint Blaſe at Brunſwicke, leauing Iſſue, Otho Emperour, Henrie Duke of Saxonie, and William, and a Daughter named Elianor.

Elianor ſecond Daughter, borne at Roane, 1162. She had Iſſue, a Sonne named Reaumond, who was Duke of Apulia, and died yong: Shee was after Married to Raymond the fourth of that Name, Earle of Tholouze, and had Iſſue Raymond, the laſt Earle of that Houſe or Family; and a Daughter married to Berald of Elbeine, Prince of Orange.

The Iſſue of King HENRIE the ſecond, by his Concubines.

WIlliam, ſur-named Longſpee (or Long-ſword) begotten of his Paramore, the Lady Roſamond, Daughter of Walter Lord Clifford, Married Ela Daughter and heire of William Fitz-patricke Earle of Salisburie, and had Iſſue, William Longſpee a Baron; Stephen ſecond Sonne, Nicholas Biſhop of Salisburie; and Richard the fourth Sonne, was a Cannon at Bradſtocke: Idona, Married to William Beauchampe Baron of Bedford; Ella, firſt married to the Earle of Warwicke, and after to Phillip Lord

Lord Basset; and Isabel, first married to William Lord Vescy, and after to Walter Lord Clifford, Father of Roger.

Richard, the third Sonne of King Henry the second, was borne at Oxford, in the yeare 1157. who for his invincible valour & haughty courage was sur-named Cuer-de-Lyon, or the Lyons Heart; and did beare on his Sheild or Targe for his Armes, a Lyon rampant, which was the first Armes that euer I haue seene borne by any in England. He began his Reigne ouer England, the sixt day of Iuly, in the yeare of our Lord, 1189. being thirty fiue yeeres olde. And vpon the solemnizing of his Fathers Funerals, he went to the City of Roan, where, on the twentieth of Iuly after, he was proclaimed Duke of Normandy. In the beginning of his reigne, Pope Innocent solicited him with many strong perswasions, and promises of his blessings, to wage warre in his owne Person against the Turkes in the holy Land, and to attempt the winning of Ierusalem from the Infidels; which iourney he vndertooke, because Fredericke the Emperour, and Philip the second of France, and Leopoldus then Arch-Duke of Austria, and others had engaged themselues, to further those attempts, that their generall meeting should be in Sicilia: and that such wealth and booty as God and good fortune should make them owners of, should be equally shared and diuided amongst them and theirs. King Richard to supply his wants, and to furnish himselfe with money, he sold the Castles of Barwicke and Rokesbrough to the King of Scots, for ten thousand pounds; and the Lordship and Earledome of Durham, vnto Hugh the proud Bishop of that See, for a great summe of money. He also enriched himselfe by the sale of sundry Honours, Lordships, Mannors, Offices, Priuiledges, Royalties, and other things; protesting, that (for the performance of so great and honourable a seruice) hee was not vnwilling to sell his Citie of London, if any were able to buy it, rather then he would be chargeable vnto others. His iourney beeing performed, and hee proclaimed King of Ierusalem, and had the possession thereof, and after making his returne for England; was in danger of shipwracke, where he saued his life by swimming, neere vnto Histria, which lieth betweene Aquileia and Venice. And comming to the Territories of Leopold in Austria, hee was by him taken prisoner, and sold to the Emperour Henry the sixt, for threethreescore thousand Markes; which Emperour assessed him to pay for his ransome, one hundred thousand pounds; for which, securitie being giuen, he was set at libertie. He was first contracted in marriage to Alice, Daughter of Lewis the seuenth King of France, but with her he neuer kept companie, nor had any issue.

His second wife was Berengaria, daughter of Sanches the fourth, King of Navarre, who married him at Cyprus, and accompanied him to the holy Land, but by her had no issue. He was slaine by Bertram de Gurdonn, with the shot out of a Crossebow, at a Castle of the Viscount of Limoges, called Chalons, which wounding him in the shoulder, the Surgeons hauing drawne out the wood of the Arrow, and not the envenomed yron forke; mangled the Arme with cruell incisions, that the paines thereof hastened his death, when he had reigned almost nine yeeres. He was buried at Founteuerard in France at his Fathers feete, the sixt of Aprill, in the yeare 1199. without any lawfull issue. He had two base children, Philip a sonne Lord of Cuinac, and Isabell a daughter.

King Richard the first, did beare for his Armes in his Pauis or Shield; one Lyon rampant: and this is the first Armes that ever I could see any authoritie for: but afterward he bare three Lyons passant gardant.

King Iohn.

Iohn, the sixt, and youngest Sonne of King Henrie the second, was borne in the yeare 1166. and by his Father was made Earle of Moriton, and Lord of Ireland; and by the bountie and gift of King Richard his Brother, he was Earle of Cornwall, Lancaster, and Somerset, and after his Brothers death, at Roane he was created Duke of Normandy. And lastly, vpon the Ascension day, 1199. he was crowned at Westminster King of England. He was sur-named Iohn Sanz-terre, because (when he was King) he resigned both Crowne and Kingdome to the Pope, which Pandulph the Legate kept for the space of foure dayes to the Popes vse. The whole course of this Kings gouernment, was accompanyed with continuall troubles; & his two Persecutors were Pope Innocent the third, and Philip the second King of France. He married three wiues, the first was Alice, one of the daughters and coheyres of Hubert Earle of Mortaigne, in whose right he was Earle Mortaigne, shee died without issue. His second wife was Isabell, daughter and co-heire of William Earle of Gloceſter, sonne of Earle Robert, married to him when he was Earle of Moritayne, the first of King Richard the first, and after tenne yeares (hauing no issue) was the first yeare of his Reigne diuorced from him, vnder pretence of conſanguinitie, and married to Geffery Magna-vile, Earle of Eſſex; and after his deceaſe, to Hubert de Burgo, Earle of Kent, and died without iſſue.

Iſabell, third wife to King Iohn, was Siſter and heyre of Aymer Tailefer Earle of Angoleſme, by whom he had iſſue as hereafter followeth. This Iſabell ouer-liued King Iohn, and married Hugh de Brun, Earle of the Marches of Aquitaine, and Lord of Luſignan and Valence in Poytou, (to whom ſhee ſhould haue been married, before ſhee married King Iohn) by whom ſhee had diuers children, greatly aduanced by King Henry the third their halfe Brother. This King, lying in the Abbey of Swanſteed, not far from Lincolne, was poyſoned by a Monke, of the Order of S. Bernard; who to make his match ſure, and to auoide iealouſie and ſuſpition, firſt dranke vnto the King, and poyſoned himſelfe: the King beeing brought from the ſaid Abbey in a Horſe-litter, vnto the Caſtle of Newarke, there died on S. Lukes night, the 14. Kalends of Nouember, and was after buried at Worceſter, in the yeare 1216. when he had reigned ſeuenteen years, fiue moneths, lacking eight dayes, at the age of fiftie one yeares.

This Iohn beeing King of England and Duke of Normandy, in right of his Grand-mother Mauld the Empreſſe; and Duke of Aquitaine by Elianor his Mother, ioyned the Armes of Aquitaine, beeing a Lyon paſſant gardant vnto the Armes of Normandy and England, making it Gueulles trois Lyons paſſant gardant d'or.

The Iſſue of King IOHN by ISABELL his laſt Wife.

KIng Henrie the third, borne at Wincheſter, the firſt of October, 1208. being the tenth yeare of his Fathers Reigne.

Richard, ſecond Sonne of King Iohn, was borne the next yeare after his Brother King Henry, by whom he was made Knight, and created Earle of Cornwall; and by the Electors, choſen to be Emperour of the Weſt, and crowned King of the Romans and Almany, at the City of Acon in Germany; (others haue at Aquiſgraue.) He married three wiues, the firſt was Iſabell, the daughter of William Marſhall the younger, Earle of Penbroke, widdow of Gilbert de Clare, Earle of Gloceſter, by whome he had iſſue, Henry ſlaine at Vitirbo in Italy, and Iohn who died both without iſſue. His ſecond wife was Senchia, daughter of Raymond Earle of Prouince, and Siſter to Queene Elianor his Brothers wife, who was crowned with him at Acon, and by whom he had iſſue, Edmond Earle of Cornwall, and others. His third and laſt wife was Beatrix, Niece to the Archbiſhop of Coleyne. This Richard died at his Mannor of Barkhamſted, the twentieth of Aprill, 1271. others ſay, 1272. and his body was buried in the Monaſterie of Hayles in Gloceſterſhire, and his heart in the Abbey of Reuly in Oxford, which was of his foundation.

Ioane the eldeſt Daughter was married to Alexander the ſecond King of of Scots, who comming into England to see her Brother King Henry the third, died at London, and was buried in the Nunnerie at Tarent in Dorsetshire, the fourth of March, 1236.

Elianor second daughter, was first married to William Marshall the younger, Earle of Penbroke, who died before the wedding Feast was ended. Shee married after, Simon Mountfort Earle of Leicester (sonne of Simon Earle Mounfort in France) who maintaining the Barons warres, against King Henry the third, was slaine at the battaile of Euesham, 1265. After whose death, she and her Children were banished England, and died in the Nunnery at Montarges in France; as in the Title of Earles of Leicester is more at large.

Isabell youngest daughter, was borne in the yeare 1214. who beeing twenty one yeares of age, married the Emperour Fredericke in the Citie of Wormes in Germany, the twentieth of July, 1235. Shee beeing his sixt Wife, had issue by him, Henry elected King of Cicily, and Margaret, Wife of Albert Landgraue of Thurin. Shee died in childbed the first of December, 1241.

The Base Children of King IOHN.

Richard, base sonne of King Iohn, with Hugh de Burgo Earle of Kent, ouerthrew the Nauie of Lewis the French Kings sonne, in the second yeare of King Henrie the third. He married Rohesia, daughter and heyre of Richard de Douer, Sonne and heire of Fulbert de Douer, who built the Castle of Chilham in Kent, and had issue, two daughters, Lora wife to William Marmyon, and Isabell marryed to Dauy Strabolgie Earle of Ætholl.

Geffrey Fitz-Roy, base sonne of King Iohn, who transported Soldiours into France, when Arch-Bishop Hubert, forbad King Iohn his Father to goe thither.

Ioane, base daughter of King Iohn, begotten of Agatha, daughter of William Earle Ferrars and Derby, was married to Lewellin Prince of Wales, 1204. with whom her Father gaue in marriage, the Castle and Lordshippe of Elinsmere, or Ellesmer in the Marcheſſe of South-Wales: which deed beareth date at Douer, the sixteenth of Aprill, in the sixt yeare of the said Kings Reigne.

King HENRY the third.

HEnrie, Sonne and Heyre of King Iohn, was borne at Winchester, the first of October, in the yeare 1208. beeing the tenth yeare of his Fathers Reigne; and being of the age of nine yeares, was crowned King at Gloceſter, the 28. of October, 1216. by Peter, Biſhop of Winchester, and the Protection of him and his Realme, was committed to William Marſhall the elder, Earle of Penbrooke; and after his death, 1218. he was committed to Peter, Biſhop of Winchester, by whoſe counſell he was crowned the ſecond time, at Weſtminſter, in the fift yeare of his Reigne. He had great trouble and warres with his Barons, and was taken priſoner at the battaile of Lewis in Suſſex, 1263. and with him, Richard King of Romanes his Brother, and Prince Edward his Sonne, with many others: Simon Mountfort Earle of Leiceſter, Gilbert de Clare Earle of Gloceſter, and Robert Earle Ferrars, and Derby, beeing the Ring-leaders of the rebellious Barons. Not long after, the King, Prince, and others were ſet at liberty, and raiſing new Forces, fought a battaile at Euerſham in Worceſterſhire, where the Barons were diſcomfited, and Simon Earle of Leiceſter, with his eldeſt Sonne, and Sir Hugh Spencer, and many others of great account were ſlaine. This ouerthrow did vtterly defeate the Barons, and depriued them of all their hopes; and ſo reviued the melancholy King, that now he began againe to be ſenſible of his ſtrength, and reſolued (with all ſpeed poſſible) to breake thoſe chaines, with which ſo lately he was ſo ſtrongly bound.

He married Elianor, ſecond daughter and one of the co-heyres of Raymond Berengarius, Earle of Prouence, by Beatrix, daughter of Thomas Earle of Sauoy, and ſiſter to the Earles Amee and Peter, and Boniface, Archbiſhop of Canterbury. Shee was married at Canterbury, the foureteenth of Ianuarie, 1236. and was crowned at Weſtminſter, the nineteenth of Ianuary after. This Queene in her widdowhood, renounced all royall pompe and Princely ſtate, and became a Nunne at Ambresbury. He fell ſicke at S. Hee cauſed Walter de Langton, Biſhop of Couentry and Lichfield, and Lord Treaſurer of England, to be arreſted by Sir Iohn Felton, Conſtable of the Tower of London, and ſent to Wallingford, there to be kept priſoner, and his goods to bee confiſcate, and giuen to Pieres of Gaueſton; which Pieres being before baniſhed England by the ſaid Biſhops meanes, was now ſent for and receiued againe into moſt high fauour, and made Earle of Cornwall, his principall Secretarie, and Lord Chamberlaine. By whoſe company and ſociety, he was ſodainly corrupted; whereby he neglected and diſdained the good counſell and company of his Nobility, giuing himſelfe to wantonnes, paſſing his time in voluptuous pleaſure, and riotous exceſſe. And to helpe this matter forward, Pieres furniſhed the Court with Ieſters, Ruffians, flattering paraſites, and other vile and naughtie rybalds, that the King might ſpend both dayes and nights in ieſting, playing, banquetting, and other ſuch diſhonourable exerciſes. And to aduance thoſe like vnto himſelfe, he procured for them honourable Offices and preferments: all which greatly encreaſed the hatred of the Nobility, and the more, in regard of his high and haughty cariage of himſelfe. Beeing now advanced to honour, he would not once yeeld an inch to any; which procured him great enuy amongſt the cheifeſt Peeres of the Realme: namely. Henry Lacy, Earle of Lincolne; Guy, Earle of Warwicke; and Almerick de Valence, Earle of Penbroke, the Earle of Arundell, and others; who vpon ſuch wrath and diſpleaſure as they had conceiued againſt him, thought it not meet to ſuffer the ſame any longer; in hope that the Kings minde might haply be altered to better purpoſe, if the corrupter thereof were once baniſhed from him.

Hereupon they aſſembled together in a Parliament time, at the Newe Temple in London, and there agreed, that the ſaid Pieres ſhould depart, & be baniſhed the Realme againe the ſecond time; & not to returne againe at any time after. To this the King (but ſore againſt his will) agreed, and made his Letters Patents to the ſaid Lords, to witneſſe the ſame: and the Archbiſhop of Canterburie did pronounce the ſaid Pieres accurſed, if hee tarried any longer then the time appointed him, and likewiſe all thoſe that ſhould aide, helpe, or maintaine him. Whereupon Pieres was conſtrained to ſhip himſelfe at Briſtow for Ireland, though ſore againſt the Kings will, threatning the Lords to be reuenged. But not long after, Pieres returned againe into England, and came to the King at Yorke; at whoſe comming the King greatly reioyced; and lying in the Biſhops Pallace, cauſed Pieres to be lodged in the Caſtle, not farre from him.

Not long after, the King was willing (for his recreation) to take the Sea, leauing Pieres of Gaueſton at Yorke. The Barrons purſued Gaueſton, who fledde to Scarborough, where the Barrons tooke him, and carried him to a place called Blacklow, and there the ninth of Iune, cauſed his head to be ſtricken off. Afterwards, the young Prince, the Queene and Nobilitie, finding fault with the two Spencers (Hugh the Father, and Hugh the Son, for miſleading and abuſing the King and State, in like manner as Gaueſton had done) cauſed them likewiſe to be taken and put to death, without any triall or anſwer. Which done, the Queen with her Son and the Nobility, called a Parliament, wherin King Edward was iudged not worthy to beare or weare the Crowne; but (for diuers cauſes) was to be depoſed, and Prince Edward his Sonne, to be choſen in his place. This being agreed on, King Edward beeing all this while priſoner in Kenilworth Caſtle, was taken and carried from thence by night, to Corffe Caſtle, and from thence to Barkeley Caſtle, where he was moſt cruelly murdered, by Thomas Corney, and Iohn Maltreuers, and others his keepers. He was depoſed the twentie fiue of Ianuarie, 1326. when he had reigned almoſt twenty yeares, and was murthered the twentie one of September, 1327. and his body was buried at Gloceſter.

He married Iſabell, Daughter of Phillip ſurnamed the Faire, King of France, and of Iane his wife, daughter of Henrie King of Nauarre, and Blanch his wife daughter of Robert Earle of Arthoys, this Iſabell was ſiſter and heyre of her three Brothers, Lodowike Hutin, Philip the Long, and Charles the Fayre. Shee was married in our Lady Church at Bolloigne, the twenty two of Ianuary, 1038. being but twelue yeares olde, and was his wife twentie yeares, and his widdow thirty, and died at Riſing neere London, and was buried in the Gray-Fryars in London.

Et portoit, les armes de ſon Pere.

The Iſſue of King EDVVARD the ſecond.

EDward (ſurnamed of Windſore) eldeſt Sonne, borne in Windſore Caſtle, the thirteenth of October, 1312. the ſixt of his Fathers Reigne. He was firſt created Prince of Wales, and Duke of Aquitaine, in a Parliament held at Yorke, 1322. and was made Lord Warden of England; vnto whom all the Lords ſware fealtie, and receiued the oath of Allegiance. He was after King of England, by the name of King Edward the third.

Iohn

Iohn (surnamed of Eltham) second sonne, was borne at Eltham, in the yeere 1315. and at twelue yeeres of age, was created Earle of Cornwall, at a Parliament held at Salisburie, 1327. and after died in Scotland at Saint Iohns Towne, vnmarried, 1334. and lieth buried at Westminster.

Ioane eldest daughter, was borne in the Tower of London, the fift yeere of her fathers Reigne, and was married at Barwicke (being very young) the eighteenth day of Iulie, 1329. to Dauid Prince of Scotland, sonne and heire of Robert Bruse, being but seuen yeeres of age. This Dauid was after King, by the name of Dauid the second. Shee was his wife eight and twentie yeeres, and comming into England to visite her brother King Edward the third, died without issue, 1353. and was buried in Gray-Friars in London.

Elianor second daughter, was borne at Westminster in the seueuth yeer of her fathers Reigne, and was married to Reginald Earle of Gelders, for his second Wife, and had giuen her in marriage, fifteen thousand pounds, 1332. Who being Vicar generall of the Empire, to the Emperour Lewis of Bauaria, created him the first Duke of Gelders. Shee had issue, Reginald and Edward, both Dukes after their Father, and died without issue, leauing his Dutchie and his Wife to his Nephew William, Duke of Gulike, his halfe sisters sonne.

Isabell the third daughter died young, and was buried at the Gray-Friars in London.

King EDWARD the third.

EDward, the third of that Name, borne in Windesore Castle, 1312. after the deposing of his Father, began his Reigne the fiue and twentieth of Ianuarie, 1327. and was crowned at Westminster, the first day of Februarie after, by Walter, Archbishop of Canterburie.

And becausse he was but fourteene yeeres of age, and not able to gouerne of himselfe, it was decreed, that twelue of the greatest Lordes within the Realme, should haue the rule and gouernement, vntill hee came of more yeeres: which were the Arch-bishops of Canterburie and Yorke, the Bishops of Winchester and Hereford, Henrie Earle of Lancaster, Thomas of Brotherton, Marshall of England; Edmond of Woodstocke, Earle of Kent;

Iohn

Iohn Earle Warren, Thomas Lord Wake, Henrie Lord Percie, Sir Oliuer Ingham, and the Lord Iohn Ros; who were ſworne of the Kings counſell, and charged with the gouernement, as they would anſwere the ſame.

In the firſt yeere of this Kings Reigne, died Charles King of France, the third brother of Queene Iſabell, mother of King Edward the third; by whoſe death, the Kingdome of France did deſcend to King Edward, by Iſabell his mother, the onely ſiſter and heire of her three brothers, Lodowike Hutin, Philip le Long, and Charles the Faire, Kings of France. But the ſaid Kingdome was vſurped and poſſeſſed by Philip de Valois; vnkle to the ſaid Charles, who did intrude himſelfe by force.

In the yeere 1339. King Edward going to make his claime to the Kingdome of France, (prayed aide of the Flemings, who before had ſworne, and bound themſelues in a bond of a million of gold in the Popes Chamber, that they ſhould alwaies helpe the King of France, and fight vnder his Enſigne) for releaſe whereof, King Edward, by the perſwalion of Iaques d'Artuell of Gaunt, did quarter the Armes of France with the Armes of England, and proclaimed himſelfe King of France. By which act, the Flemings held themſelues diſcharged of their band and oath. After, Charles the ſixt French King of that Name, enuying greatly, that the Kings of England ſhould beare the Armes of France, (which was ſemie de luces) changed the ſame vnto three De luces; of which thing, King Henrie the fift of England tooke example and bare the like. By reaſon whereof, the Kings of France, haue euer ſince ceaſed to make any further change of their Armes. In the yeere, 1360. the foure and thirtieth of this Kings Reigne, Iohn King of France was deliuered from being priſoner here in England, and payd for his ranſome, three millions of Florence or Scutes, euery two, to be worth a Noble Engliſh.

He married Philip, daughter of William Earle of Henault and Holland, and ſiſters daughter of Philip of Valois, King of France afore mentioned. This marriage was at Yorke, the foure and twentieth of Ianuarie, and ſhe was crowned at Weſtminſter, the firſt ſunday in Lent following, 1327. Shee was his wife two and fortie yeeres, and died the fifteenth of Auguſt, 1369. and was buried at Weſtminſter. King Edward her huſband, died at Sheene, now called Richmond, the one and twentieth of Iune, 1377. after hee had liued ſixtie fiue yeeres, and reigned fiftie yeeres, foure moneths, and twentie eight dayes. His bodie was conuayed from Sheene, by his foure ſonnes, Lionell Duke of Clarence, Iohn of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaſter, Edmond of Langley, Duke of Yorke, and Thomas of Woodſtocke, Earle of Cambridge, with others, and was buried at Weſtminſter.

The Issue of King EDWARD the third.

Edward eldest sonne (borne at Woodstocke the sixteenth Kalends of Iune, 1330.) was created Prince of Wales, Duke of Aquitaine and Cornwall, and Earle of Chester, and Earle of Kent in right of his wife Ioane, daughter of Edmond Earle of Kent. (brother by the father, to King Edward the second) Shee had beene twice married before, first to the Earle of Salisburie, and after to Thomas Holland. She had issue by Prince Edward, two sonnes, Edward borne at Angolesme, who died young; and Richard borne at Burdeaux, who was after King of England, by the name of King Richard the second.

This Prince had issue also, two bastard sonnes, Sir Iohn Sounder, and Sir Roger Claridon Knights; the latter was attainted in King Henrie the fourths time, for publishing that King Richard the second was aliue.

William second sonne, was borne at Hatfield in Hartfordshire, 1335. and was sur-named William of Hatfield; he had his christen name of William Earle of Henault, his grand-father, and died in his childhood, and was buried at Yorke.

Lionell third sonne, was borne in the Citie of Antwerpe, the nine and twentieth of Nouember, 1338. being the vigill of Saint Andrew, and was sur-named of Antwerpe. Hee had two wiues, the first was Elizabeth, daughter of Iohn de Burgh Earle of Vlster in Ireland, and sister and heire of William Burgh Earle of Vlster her brother, in whose right he was first created Earle of Vlster. And because hee had with her the Honour of Clare in Norfolke, as parcell of the inheritance of her Grand-mother (Elizabeth, sister and co-heire of the last Gilbert de Clare Earle of Gloceſter) He was in Parliament, 1362. created Duke of Clarence; from which Dutchie, the name of Clarenceux, King of Armes of the South parts of England, taketh his denomination. He had issue by the said Elizabeth, one onely daughter named Philip, married to Edmond Mortimer Earle of March, grand-father of Anne, Countesse of Cambridge, grand-mother of King Edward the fourth.

He was after married at Millaine in Lumbardie, to the Ladie Violanta, daughter of Galeazo, the second Duke thereof; as in the Earles of Clare is set forth.

Iohn fourth sonne, borne at Gaunt in Flanders, 1340. was first created Earle of Richmond, which was surrendred to Iohn Duke of Britaine, sur-named The valiant, who had married Marie his sister, to whose Dukedome formerly it had belonged.

This Iohn married three Wiues, the first was Blanch, daughter and heire of Henrie Duke of Lancaster, (sonne of Edmond Chroochbacke) by whom he had issue, King Henry the fourth; Philip, Wife to Iohn the first, King of Portingall; and Elizabeth, first married to Iohn Holland Earle of Huntington, and after to Sir Iohn Cornwall Baron of Fanhope. His second Wife was Constance, eldest daughter of Peter King of Castile and Leon, in whose right he intituled himselfe King of both those Realmes, and had issue, Katherine, Wife to Henry the third, sonne of King Iohn, King of both those Realmes.

His third Wife was Katharine Swynford, Widdow of Sir Otho or Otes Swynford, Knight of Lincolnshire, daughter and co-heyre of Sir Payn Roet, alias Guien, King of Armes, a Gascoigne borne, whose other daughter Anne, was maried to Sir Geffrey Chaucer Knight, the Poet. By this Katharine Swynford, he had issue before marriage, and made legitimate by Act of Parliament, the twentieth yeare of King Richard the second; Iohn Earle of Somerset, Thomas Duke of Exceter, and Earle of Dorset, Henrie Bishop of Winchester, and Cardinall; and Ioane, first married to Raphe Neuill, first Earle of Westmerland, and after to Robert Ferrars, Baron of Ouesley. These children begotten of Katherine Swynford, were sur-named Beauforts, of Beaufort Castle in France, where they were borne.

Edmond of Langley fift sonne, was created Earle of Cambridge, in the thirty sixe yeare of King Edward the third, and after Duke of Yorke, 1386. He married Isabell, daughter and co-heyre of Peter King of Castile and Leon, as in the Title of Earles of Cambridge, and Dukes of Yorke.

William, sur-named of Windsore, where he was borne, died young.

Thomas the youngest sonne, sur-named of Woodstocke (where he was borne) was by King Richard the second, first created Earle of Buckingham, and after Duke of Glocester, as in those Titles is more at large.

Isabell, eldest daughter of King Edward the third, was borne at Woodstocke, 1332. and was married at Windsore to Ingelram de Guisnes, Lord of Coucy, Earle of Soysons, and Duke of Austria, whom King Edward her Father, made Earle of Bedford, by whom shee had issue two daughters, Mary, married to Henry of Barre, and Philip, Wife to Robert Vere Earle of Oxford, Duke of Irelaud, and Marquesse of Dublyn, who after forsooke her, and martied one Lancerona; a Ioyners daughter, who came into England with Queene Philip out of Bohemia.

Ioane second daughter, married by Proxy to Alphons, the eleuenth King of Castile and Leon.

Blanch third daughter died young, and was buried at Westminster.

Mary fourth daughter, married to Iohn Mountfort Duke of Britaine.

Margaret yongest daughter, was the first Wife of Iohn Hastings Earle of Penbrooke.

King RICHARD the ſecond.

Richard the ſecond, borne at Burdeaux, ſonne of Edward the blacke Prince, and grand-child to King Edward the third, being eleuen yeares olde, beganne his Reigne the one and twentie day of Iune, in the yeare of our Lord, 1377. and was crowned King at Weſtminſter, the ſixteenth of Iuly. In beauty, bounty and liberalitie, he farre paſſed all his Progenitors; but was ouermuch giuen to reſt and quietneſſe, little regarding matters of Armes: and beeing young, was moſt ruled by young Counſell, regarding little the Counſell of the ſage and wiſemen of the Realme. Which thing, turned this Land to great trouble, and himſelfe to extreame miſerie; For beeing firſt diſgraced by his Couſin, Henry of Bullingbroke, Duke of Hereford, ſonne of Iohn of Gaunt Duke of Lancaſter, hee was at length by him (with the generall conſent of a whole Parliament) depoſed from his Crowne and Kingdome, the nine and twentieth of September, 1399. and committed to priſon, and afterwards wickedly murdered. For beeing ſent to Pomfret Caſtle to be ſafely kept, and Princely maintained, was ſhortly after by King Henries direction and commandement, (who feared leaſt his Eſtate might be ſhaken, ſo long as King Richard liued) wickedly aſſaulted in his lodging, by Sir Pieres of Exton, and eight other armed men, from one of which (with a Princely courage) he wreſted a browne Bill, and therewith ſlew foure of them; and with an admirable reſolution, fought with all the reſt: vntill comming by his owne Chaire (in which the baſe cowardly Knight himſelfe ſtood for his owne ſafetie) he was by him ſtricken with a Pole-axe, in the hinder part of his head, that preſently he fell downe to the ground and died, when hee had reigned two and twenty yeares, foureteene weekes, and two dayes.

He married two Wiues, the firſt was Anne, daughter of the Emperour Charles the fourth, and ſiſter of Wenceſlaus, Emperour and King of Bohemia, who was crowned Queene the two and twentieth of Ianuarie, 1384. hauing been his Wife tenne yeares, and dyed at Sheene in Surrey, 1394. and was buried at Weſtminſter without iſſue.

His ſecond Wife was Iſabel, daughter of Charles the ſixt, King of France, whom he affianced in the nineteenth yeare of his Reigne, ſhe beeing then but ſeauen yeeres olde: by reaſon whereof, hee neuer had any company with her. Shee was after the ſaid Richards death, ſent backe againe into France, beeing then not full twelue yeares olde, without any dowry, becauſe the marriage was neuer conſummated. The Lord Henrie Percie had the conuaying of her, in the yeare, 1401. where ſhee was after married to Charles the ſonne of Lewis Duke of Orleance.

At this King Richards Coronation, Sir Iohn Dimmocke Knight, & Baldwyn Frevyle had a controuerſie for the office of the Kings Champion, but it was adiudged for Sir Iohn Dimmocke, who that day did execute the ſame at dinner vpon the Kings ſecond horſe, and wearing his beſt ſecond Armour.

Et portoit, France ſeme eſcartelle d'engleterre.

King HENRIE the fourth.

THE right of the Crowne of England, after the death of King Richard without iſſue, ought to haue deſcended to Edmund Mortimer, Earle of March, ſonne and heyre of Roger Mortimer, whoſe Mother Philip, was daughter and heire of Lionell Duke of Clarence, third ſonne of King Edward the third. Which notwithſtanding, Henrie, ſur-named of Bullingbroke, Duke of Hereford, and ſonne and heyre of Iohn of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaſter, fourth ſonne of King Edward the third, was elected King, and began his Reigne the nine and twentieth of September, 1399. After which, he made many new Officers, viz. Thomas his ſecond ſonne, he made Lord high Steward of England. The Earle of Northumberland, Conſtable of England. The Earle of Weſtmerland, Marſhall of England, &c. and was crowned at Weſtminſter, the thirteenth of October after. The Dukes of Yorke, Surrey and Albemarle, with the Earle of Gloceſter, bare the Canopy ouer him (which Office now, the Barrons of the Cinque-Ports Ports do execute.) Sir Thomas Dymmoke (anceſtor of the now Noble and worthy Knight, Sir Edward Dymmoke of Lincolnſhire) was Champion, and rode three times about the Hall in compleate armour, challenging any that ſhould gaine-ſay the Kings right, throwing downe his Gauntler to maintaine the ſame. He created Henrie his eldeſt ſonne, Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, Earle of Cheſter, and heyre apparent to the Crowne; and at his death, he gaue him this charge to keepe (as he would anſwer the ſame before God) viz. To miniſter the Lawes indifferently, to eaſe the oppreſſed, to beware of flatterers, not to deferre iuſtice, nor to be ſparing of mercie. Puniſh (quoth he) the oppreſſors of thy people, ſo ſhalt thou obtaine fauour of God, and loue of thy ſubiects; who, whiles they haue wealth, ſo long ſhalt thou haue obedience; but beeing made poore by oppreſsions, will bee euer ready to ſtirre and make rebellion and inſurrection.

He yeelded to God his ſpirit, the twentieth day of March, 1412. the fortie ſixt yeare of his age, when he had raigned thirteene yeares, ſixe moneths, lacking tenne dayes. His body beeing conveyed to Canterbury, was there buried.

He married two Wiues, the firſt was Mary, ſecond daughter and coheyre of Humfrey de Bohun, Earle of Hereford, Eſſex and Northampton, and Conſtable of England, who died in the yeare 1394. and was buried at Canterburie.

His ſecond Wife was Ioane, daughter of Charles King of Navarre, and Widdow of Iohn Mountfort Duke of Britaine, who dyed at Hauering in the Bower in Eſſex, without iſſue, the tenth of Iuly, 1437. and was buried at Canterbury.

HEnrie eldeſt ſonne, was created Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, and Earle of Cheſter, in the firſt yeare of his Fathers Reigne. This Henrie, in the time of his Fathers baniſhment, was ſent into Ireland; and vpon hearing of his Fathers ariuall into England, King Richard cauſed him to be impriſoned with Humfrey, ſonne and heire of Thomas of Woodſtocke, in the Caſtle of Trime in Ireland; but in the firſt yeare of King Henrie the fourth, they were both deliuered, and comming into England, Humfrey died of the plague at Cheſter.

Thomas ſecond ſonne, was created Duke of Clarence, in the eleuenth yeare of King Henry the fourth, and in the eight yeare of King Henry the fift, he was made Lieutenant Generall of France and Normandy; and (in the yeare after) was ſlaine at Bangy-Bridge in France, by the Duke of Orliance. He married Margaret, daughter of Thomas Holland Earle of Kent, and Widdow of Iohn Beaufort Earle of Somerſet; as is more at large in the Title of the Dukes and Earles of Clarence.

Iohn third ſonne, was made Duke of Bedford, the eleuenth yeare of King Henry the fourth his Father; and in the fift yeare of Henrie the fift his brother, he was by Parliament made Regent of England, and Head of the Publike Wealth. He knighted King Henrie the ſixt his Nephew, at a Parliament held at Leiceſter, in the fourth yeere of his Reigne. And in the firſt yeare of the ſaid King Henrie the ſixt, beeing made Regent of France, Charles King of France dying: the moſt part of France was deliuered to him by the Nobilitie there, to the vſe of King Henrie the ſixt. His marriages and death is more at large in the Title of Bedford.

Humfrey, fourth ſonne of King Henry the fourth, was by his brother King Henrie the fift, made Duke of Gloceſter; and in the firſt yeare of Henrie the ſixt, he was made Protector of the Kingdome of England, for fifteene yeares, during the ſaid Kings minority; and was ſtiled, Humfrey, by the grace of God, Sonne, Brother, and Vncle to Kings, Duke of Gloceſter, Henault, Holland, Zeland, and Penbroke, Lord of Frizeland, great Chamberlaine of England, Protector and Defender of the Kingdome and Church of England. He had two Wiues.

His firſt Wife was Iaquet, daughter and heire of William, Duke of Bauaria, and Earle of Holland, who was before betrothed to Iohn Duke of Brabant, and was therefore after diuorced from this Humfrey without iſſue.

His ſecond Wife was Elianor, daughter of Reginald, Lord Cobham of Sterburgh in Surrey, who for witchcraft and poyſonings, was much defamed. Queene Margaret, Wife to King Henry the ſixt, enuyed greatly his eſtate and gouernment, and practiſed with others, his ouerthrow and deſtruction; for after he was found murdered in his bed, at Bury in Suffolke, and was after buried at S. Albons in Hertfordſhire.

Blanch eldeſt daughter, was married at Collen, to William Duke of Bauaria, ſonne and heire of Lewis of Bauaria. After ſhe married the King of Arragon: and thirdly ſhee married the Duke of Barre, but had no iſſue by any of them.

Philip, ſecond daughter of King Henry the fourth, was martied to Iohn King of Denmarke and Norway, and died without iſſue.

King

King HENRIE the fift.

HEnrie the fift, ſurnamed of Munmouth in the Marches of Wales, where hee was borne, in the yeere 1388. Hee began his reigne, the twentieth day of March in the yeere of our Lord 1412. And the ninth day of Aprill after, hee was crowned King at Weſtminſter, by Thomas of Arundell, Arch-biſhop of Canterburie. Which done, he called before him all his young Lords and Companions, that were followers of his young actions; to euery of them he gaue rich gifts, and commanded, that as many as would change their life and manners, (as he intended to doe) ſhould follow him ſtill; and to thoſe that would perſiſt in their former life and conuerſation, he commanded vpon paine of death, neuer after to come in his preſence. This Prince, by the inſtigation and prouokement of ſome of theſe vnthriftie and lewd Companions, in his fathers dayes, ſmote the then Lord Chiefe-Iuſtice of the Kings Bench, a blow on the face: for which, he was by his father impriſoned, and put from his place of being Preſident of the Kings Counſell; which Office (to his great griefe and diſgrace) the King gaue to Thomas Duke of Clarence, his ſecond ſonne.

This King following his father, vſed euery day when no ſtate was kept, after dinner, to haue a cuſhion layd on the cup-boord, and there to leane a whole houre or more, to receiue Petitions and heare complaints of whoſoeuer would come. And in thoſe dayes, when the King dined in his Chamber, the Steward of the houſhold, ſate alwaies in the Hall, vnder the Cloth of Eſtate, the ſame being rolled vp aboue his head, and ſuch Knights with him, as waited that time vpon the King. He died in the Caſtle of Boys de Viſcenne, not farre from Paris, the thirteenth day of Auguſt, 1422. when he had reigned nine yeeres, fiue moneths, and odde dayes, being ſixe and thirtie yeeres old, and was buried at Weſtminſter.

He married Katherine, daughter of Charles the ſixt, King of France, at Troyes in Champaigne, the third of Iune, 1420. and the fourteenth of Februarie after, ſhe was crowned at Weſtminſter, and was his wife, two yeers & three moneths. She was after married to a Noble Gentleman, named Owen Theodor of Wales, by whom ſhe had iſſue three ſons, Edmond, Iaſper and Owen; Edmond was made Earle of Richmond; and married Margaret, daughter and ſole heire of Iohn Duke of Somerſet, and had iſſue, King Henrie the ſeuenth: Iaſper the ſecond ſonne, was Earle of Penbroke, and after Duke of Bedford. This Queene Katherine died at Bermondſey in Southwarke, the ſecond of Iune, 1436. and was buried at Weſtminſter, leauing iſſue by King Henrie the fift her huſband, King Henrie the ſixt. This King left Seme de lyces, and bare three.

Et portoit, France, eſcartelle d'Engleterre.

King HENRIE the ſixt.

Henrie the ſixt, born at Windſore, beeing an infant not nine moneths old, began his reigne the laſt of Auguſt, in the yeere of our Lord, 1422. The gouernement of his Realmes was committed to Humfrey Duke of Gloceſter, and the guard of his perſon to Thomas Duke of Exceſter, and to Iohn Duke of Bedford, the Regiment of France. Theſe his three Vnkles, with great wiſedome and valour diſcharged the truſt committed vnto them. This Henrie, on the ſixt of Nouember, 1429. in the eight yeere of his reigne was crowned at Weſtminſter with ſolemnization. He tooke his iourney to France, and comming to Paris, was receiued with great ſolemnitie: and on the ſeuenteenth of Nouember, 1431. was crowned King of France, in our Ladie Church in Paris.

Heeſpouſed Margaret, daughter of Reyner, Duke of Aniou, (and titulary King of Cicilie, Naples and Ieruſalem) by Proxie at the Citie of Towers in Touraine, in Saint Martins Church, by William de la Pole his Procurator, in the preſence of the French King and Queene; which King, was vnkle to the Brides father, and the French Queene, Aunt to her mother. She being conueyed to the Abbey of Tichfield, was there ſolemnely married to King Henrie the ſixt, the two and twentieth of Aprill, 1445. and was crowned at Weſtminſter, the thirtieth day of May after, they had iſſue Edward Prince of Wales. This good King in the three and thirtieth yeere of his reigne, loſt the battaile at S. Albons; and was taken priſoner at the battaile of Northampton, by the Earle of Warwicke, the thirtie eight eight yeere of his reigne; and the yeere after, was deliuered againe by Queene Margaret his wife, after the second battaile of S. Albons; but in the same, after the battaile at Mortimers Crosse, the King and Queene fled to Yorke; and the Earle of March, comming to London with his power, was proclaimed King of England. And in the fourth yeere of his reigne, hee tooke King Henrie, neere the Abbey of Selby in Lancashire, and brought him prisoner to the Tower of London. And in the ninth yeere of his reigne, King Henrie the sixt, was againe deliuered, by the Duke of Clarence and the Earle of Warwicke.

King Edward flying into Flanders, was proclaimed a Vsurper; but the next yeere after, King Edward returning againe into England, & comming to London, tooke King Henrie in the Bishops Pallace, and after gaue battaile to the Earle of Warwicke, at Barnet, where the said Earle, with his brother Iohn Neuill, Marquesse Mountague were slaine. And in the same yeere, 1471. hee also gaue a great ouerthrow to Queene Margaret, at Tewksburie; in which battaile, the said Queene, with Prince Edward her onely sonne, were taken prisoners; Prince Edward being first stricken by King Edward, Richard Duke of Gloceſter, stabbed him to the heart with his dagger. The Queene his mother was conueyed to London, where she remained in prison, vntill Reyner her father purchased her deliuerance with great summes of money; who after returning to her owne Country, there died.

After this battaile at Tewkesburie, King Edward the fourth came to London, on the one and twentieth of May, 1471. with thirtie thousand men: and the same night, King Henrie was murdered in the Tower of London, and the morrow after, brought into S. Pauls Church in London, in an open Coffin bare-faced, where he bled: From thence he was conueyed to the Blacke-Friars, and there also bled. Lastly, his bodie was conueyed to Windsore, and there buried.

Not long before this godly King Henries death, he was asked why he had so long held the Crowne of England vniustly, who answered, My father was King of England, quietly enioying the Crowne all his reigne, and his father my grandsire was also King of England, and I euen a child in cradle was proclaimed and crowned King, without any interruption, and so held it for fortie yeeres well-neere, all the States doing homage vnto me, and to my auncestors. Therefore I say with King Dauid, My lot is fallen in a faire ground, I haue a goodly heritage, my helpe is from the Lord which saueth the vpright in heart.

Vita Hen. VI.

King EDWARD the fourth.

Eward, Earle of March, borne at Roan in Normandie, ſonne and heire of Richard Plantagenet Duke of Yorke, by Cicely Neuill, daughter of Rafe, Earle of Weſtmerland; about the age of eighteene yeers, began his reigne the fourth day of March, 1460. and was crowned at Weſtminſter, the eight and twentieth of Iune after.

Philip Commines, writing of the death of this King Edward the fourth, ſayth. The late King Edward the fourth of England, being heire of the Houſe of Yorke, vtterly deſtroyed the Houſe of Lancaſter, vnder the which, both his father and he had liued many yeeres. And although the ſaid King Edward had done homage to King Henrie the ſixt, beeing of the Houſe of Lancaſter: did he not afterwards hold him priſoner many yeers, in the Tower of London, where in the end he was murdered? Haue we not ſeene alſo (ſayth he) the Earle of Warwicke, principall Gouernour of all the ſaid King Edwards Offices (after he had put to death all his enemies, eſpecially the Duke of Somerſet) in the end became deadly enemie to the King his Maſter, gaue his daughter in marriage, to Edward Prince of Wales, ſonne of King Henrie, attempted againe to ſet vp the Houſe of Lancaſter, paſt with the ſaid Prince into England, diſcomfited in the field and ſlaine, both he and his brother, with many other Noblemen their kindred, and others, who in time paſt had done the like to their enemies? After all this, the children of theſe, when the world turned, reuenged themſelues, and cauſed (in like manner) the other to die. For after King Edward was quiet in his place and Realme, and receiued yeerely out of France, fiftie thouſand Crownes, payd him in the Tower of London, and was growne ſo rich, that richer he could not be; he died ſodainly, as it were of melancholie, becauſe of the French Kings marriage with the Ladie Margaret, the Duke of Auſtriches daughter. For ſo ſoone as hee was aduertiſed thereof, he fell ſicke, and began then to perceiue, how he had beene abuſed, touching the marriage of his daughter, whom he had cauſed to bee called the Ladie Dolphineſſe: then alſo was the penſion (which he had receiued out of France) taken from him, which he called Tribute, &c.

Hee

He married Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Wooduile Earle Riuers, and Iaqueline his Wife, Dutcheſſe of Bedford, and Widdow of Sir Iohn Grey, ſlaine at S. Albons, where he was knighted, the day before his death, by King Henry the ſixt. After whoſe death, ſhe was priuately married to King Edward the fourth, the firſt day of May, at his Mannor of Grafton in Northamptonſhire, 1464. and the next yeare after, was crowned Queen at Weſtminſter, the twentie ſixe day of May. Shee was his Wife eighteene yeare, eleuen moneths, and nine daies, and in the beginning of King Edward the fit (her ſonnes Reigne) ſhe was forced to take Sanctuarie at Weſtminſter; and after, hauing all her lands and poſſeſſions ſeized vpon by King Henry the ſeauenth, liued in meane eſtate in the Monaſtery of Bermondſey in Southwarke, where not long after ſhee died, and was buried at Windſore, by King Edward her husband, who died before at Weſtminſter, the ninth day of Aprill, 1483. at the age of fortie one years, when he had reigned twentie two yeares, one moneth, and odde dayes.

In this Kings time, Lewis the eleuenth French King, entertained diuers of King Edwards Counſellors with large penſions, to ſteed him in England, and at one time he ſent Peter Clercl, one of the Maſters of his houſhold, vnto the Lord Haſtings, King Edwards Chamberlain, to preſent him with 2000. Crownes: which when Peter tendred, he prayed (for his diſcharge) he would make him an acquittance; the Lord Chamberlaine anſwered; Sir, that which you ſay is very reaſonable; but the gift comes from the good will of the King your Maſter, and not at my requeſt at all: if it pleaſe you that I ſhall haue it, you ſhall put it within the pocket of my ſleeue, and you ſhall haue no other acquitance of me: for I will neuer, it ſhall be ſaid of me, that the Lord Chamberlaine of the King of England, had beene pentioner to the King of France, nor that my acquitances ſhall be found in the Chamber of accompts in France: whereupon Cleret went his way malecontent, but left his money behind him. P. Commines

The Iſſue of King EDVVARD the fourth.

EDward, eldeſt ſonne of King Edward the fourth, borne in the Sanctuarie at Weſtminſter, the fourth of November, 1471. the tenth yeare of his Fathers Reigne, at that time King Edward was expulſed the Realm, by the Earle of Warwicke; but Fortune changing, the Father was reſtored, and the Sonne created Prince of Wales, and Earle of Cheſter, the firſt of Iuly.

Richard, ſecond ſonne of King Edward the fourth, borne at Shrewsbury, and being but a child, was created Duke of Yorke. He was betrothed vnto Anne, daughter and heire of Iohn Mowbray Duke of Norfolke, Earle Marſhall, Warren and Nottingham, but he enioyed neither wife, nor long life, for he was (with his brother Prince Edward) murdered in the Tower of London; which place euer ſince hath beene mured vp, and not known vntill of late, when as their dead carcaſes were there found, vnder a heape of ſtones and rubbiſh. George

George third ſonne, was alſo borne at Shrewsbury, and beeing very young, died and was buried at Windſore.

Elizabeth eldeſt daughter, borne at Weſtminſter, the eleuenth of Februarie, 1466. ſhee was promiſed in marriage to Charles the Dolphin of France, wooed and courted by Richard Duke of Gloceſter, her vnhappie Vnckle, after he had murdered her two Brothers, and he then King; but after ſhee was married to King Henry the ſeauenth.

Cecily ſecond daughter, was motioned to marrie Iames Prince of Scotland, and Duke of Rothſay, but it tooke no effect, and ſo ſhee was married after to Iohn Viſcount Welles, whom ſhe out-liued, and married againe to one Kyme Lincolnſhire, and died without iſſue.

The Baſe Children of King EDVVARD the fourth.

Arthur Plantaginet, baſe ſonne of King Edward the fourth, begotten of Elizabeth Lucie, was created Viſcount Liſle at Bridewell in London, the twenty ſixe of Aprill, 1533. in right of his Wife Elizabeth, ſiſter and heyre of Sir Iohn Grey, Viſcount Liſle, the widdow of Edmond Dudley. This Arthur had iſſue, three daughters, Bridget, Francis, and Elizabeth, as is more at large in the Title of Viſcounts.

Elizabeth, baſe daughter of King Edward the fourth, married to Sir Thomas Lumley Knight, who dyed before his Father George Lord Lumley, and had iſſue, Richard Lord Lumley, that died the ſecond of King Henry the eight; and George Lumley a ſecond ſonne.

King EDWARD the fifth.

THis young King, being vnder the protection of Richard Duke of Gloceſter his vnnaturall vnkle, at the death of his father being in Wales, was brought and lodged in the Biſhops Palace of London, the fourth day of May, 1483. The Queene his mother, with his young brother the Duke of Yorke being in the Sanctuarie at Weſtminſter; Richard, the then Protector, ſent the honeſt Lord Cardinall to the Queene, for the deliuerie of the ſaid Duke of Yorke out of the Sanctuarie; who by his ſweet and poyſoned words, and proteſtations to his mother, that it would be for all their good to deliuer him: This young Prince was deliuered, and brought to the King his brother, in the Biſhops Palace of London, and from thence conueyed to the Tower of London, with ſhew of preparation for the day of Coronation; where they remained ſome two moneths. At which time, the ſaid Protector ſent one Greene (a truſtie ſeruant of his) vnto Sir Robert Brakenburie, then Conſtable of the Tower, to murder the ſaid two Princes; who ſtoutly denying to doe ſo foule an act, Sir Iames Tirrell, a ſeruant of the ſaid Protectors, was ſent to Brakenburie the day after, to haue the keyes of the Tower, and cuſtodie of thoſe two Infants deliuered to him. Which being done accordingly, the young King and his brother were ſhut vp together, and all companie remoued from them, ſauing that miſcreant dog, that was to execute that bloudy and butcherly act; who about midnight, brought a rout of Runnagates into their chamber, who ſuddenly lapping them vp amongſt the cloathes of their bed, ſmothered theſe two ſweet Babes, the Lords Annointed.

This yong King, was at his fathers death, eleuen yeeres, fiue moneths, and fiue dayes old.

King

King RICHARD the third.

Richard the third, borne at Fotheringhay Caſtle in Northamptonſhire, third ſonne of Richard Duke of Yorke, and brother to King Edward the fourth, Lord Protector, and murderer of King Edward the fift his nephew: And (by common report) a monſter in nature; for hee had many teeth when hee was borne. He was very much deformed of his bodie; of ſtature hee was but low, crooke-backed, his left ſhoulder much higher then the right, his viſage vncomely, his complection ſwart, his left arme withered almoſt to the bone. He made his conſcience in all things to ſerue his will, though his will could not be obtained, without the effuſion of guiltleſſe bloud. Hee was ſo cunning a diſſembler, that he would accompanie (moſt familiarly) with ſuch as inwardly he hated in his heart. He ſpared no mans death, whoſe life reſiſted his vngodly purpoſes.

This Richard, was honoured with the Title of Gloceſter, a title and name euer ominous, all or moſt part of them dying violent and vntimely deaths: which he regarded not, his deſtinie enforcing, his aſpiring mind gaue him no reſt, vntill his reſtleſſe bodie found it laſtly in the graue. He was ſlaine at a battaile fought at Redmore neere Boſworth, the two and twentieth of Auguſt, 1485. when he had reigned two yeeres, two moneths, and fiue dayes.

The ſlaine bodie, all tugged and torne, naked, and not ſo much as a clout left to couer his ſhame, was truſſed behind Blanch Sengler, his Purſuiuant of Armes, like a hog or calfe, his head and armes hanging on the one ſide of the horſe, and his legs on the other ſide, all beſprinkled with mire and bloud, and was ſo brought to Leiceſter, and there for a miſerable ſpectacle, the ſpace of two dayes lay naked and vnburied: his remembrance being as odious to all, as his perſon deformed and loathſome to be looked vpon. Laſtly, his bodie was buried at Leiceſter, without any funerall pompe. He married Anne, ſecond daughter and co-heire of Richard Neuill, Earle of Warwicke and Saliſburie, and had iſſue, Edward their only child, created by King Edward the fourth, Earle of Saliſburie, and by his father, Prince of Wales, as in the Earles of Saliſburie is ſet forth.

A Catalogue of the Earles of Ferrars and Derby, their Armes, Wiues, and Children.

Henrie, Earle Ferrars, (or D'Ferrarijs) a Norman borne, ſonne of Wakeline, came into England with William the Conquerour, who gaue him the Caſtles of Tutburie and Oucume, with diuers other great Seigneuries in England and Normandy. He married one Berta, and had iſſue, Eugenulphus, William, and Robert; and two daughters, Gundred, and Emelyn. He founded the Abbey of Tutburie, in the yeere 1080. Vnto which foundation, were witneſſes, Eugenulphus, William, and Robert, his ſonnes. And for proofe that this Henry was an Earle, (which ſome great and late Writers denie) I haue here ſet downe the ſaid Henries Epitaph, which I find printed in the yeere 1577. and dedicated to the late Earle of Eſſex, and ſaid to be found in the Abbey of Tutburie.

Hic iacet Henricus de Ferrarijs Comes, Eccleſiæ fundator Imago, nomine cuius anno milleſimo Domini quater atque viceno Tutburiæq; nono domus eſt fundata patrono.

It is ſaid that he bare for his Armes, argent, ſix Horſe-ſhooes ſable.

William, Earle Ferrars, ſonne of Henry aforeſaid, was one of the Noblemen that went with Robert, Duke of Normandy, and other great Princes to the Holy-land, in the yeere 1095. at which time the ſaid Robert did morgage Normandy to his brother, King William Rufus for ten thouſand Markes of ſiluer. Theſe Princes wan Ieruſalem, the tenth day of Iuly, 1099. and placed therein a King and a Patriarch. Matthew Paris.

Robert

Robert de Ferrars, after the death of Henrie his father, and Eugenulphus and William, his two brothers, without issue, was the second Earle Ferrars, and by that name was witnesse to King Henrie the first his Charter, of lands which he gaue to the Abbey of Tutesbury. Also in the one & thirtieth yeare of the said Kings reigne, he began the foundation of the Abbey of Muriual in Warwickshire, to which foundation were witnesses, William, Earle of Tutburie, his sonne, and Robert his brother, Hugh de Somerie, Vrso de Abtot, Iohn Fitz-Richard, &c. and died in the nineteenth yeare of King Stephen, and was buried at Muriuall, leauing issue, William, Earle of Tutesburie, slaine in his lodging in London, without issue; Robert, Earle Ferrars, and Wakelyn de Ferrars, the third sonne.

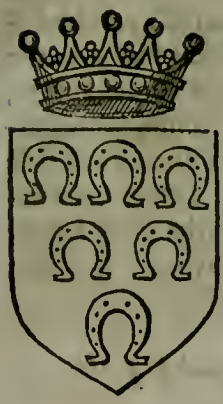
Les armes de son pere, d'argent à six Ferres de cheual de sable.



Robert de Ferrars, the second of that name, after the death of Robert his father, and William his brother, was the third Earle Ferrars, whom diuers late Writers haue greatly mistaken, they affirming him to be the first Robert, founder of Muriuall Abbey, and to be Earle of Nottingham; when as in truth, it was this Roberts father, that was founder of Muriuall Abbey, and another Robert Ferrars, grand-child of this second Robert by his sonne William, that was made Earle of Notting-ham, as hereafter will appeare in his due place. Some haue that the wife of this Robert was Sibel, daughter of William Lord Bruse of Brember and Gowere; but that Discent doth not affirme it: And where they say they haue seene Deedsand Charters, to approue their affirmation, it is vntrue; for those they meane, are vnperfect Notes and Abstracts, taken out of Glouer Somersets booke of Miscellania; which booke I haue, and pervsing the same, finde them of small credit. This Earle Robert married, and had issue, William, Earle Ferrars, the fourth Earle Ferrars; and died in the yeare 1184. the one and thirtieth of King Henrie the second: but others haue, that he died in the Holy Land, in the yeare 1190. the second of King Richard the first, which is mistaken.

Et portoit, les armoiries de son pere.

Now to the issue, which Master Mills maketh this Robert to haue, in his Booke of succession of Earles, pag. 869. viz. William de Ferrars, Earle of Derby. Petronel (or Pernel) wife of Henrie, Lord Stafford; and Elizabeth married vnto William Marſhall, Baron of Rie : I confeſſe William onely, but no daughters at all. For by a Record of the ſixe and twentieth of King Henrie the third, it is proued, that Henrie Lord Staffords wifes name was Mabel, daughter of Robert Muſegros, and Agnes his wife, daughter of William, Earle Ferrars and Derby, great grand-ſonne of Robert Ferrars, Earle of Nottingham, which, Mills ſaith, died in the holy Land, 1190. And for Elizabeth the other daughter, to be married to William Marſhall, Baron of Rie and Hengham in Norfolke, which died 1266. that is moſt vntrue ; for that William he meaneth, had to his wife Alina, daughter and heire of Hubert, Baron of Rie, and died in the eleuenth yeare of King Edward the firſt, as by an Inquiſition of that date it doth appeare.

William, Earle Ferrars, Lord of Tutburie in Staffordſhire, and Oucume in Rutlandſhire, ſonne of the ſecond Robert, Earle Ferrars, married Margaret, daughter and heire of William Peuerell of Notringham, (whoſe grand-father William, was the baſe ſonne of William the Conquerour, begotten of the wife of Randolph Peuerell, of Hatfield Peuerell) and had iſſue, Robert and William : Robert, the eldeſt ſonne, in the life time of his father, was made Earle of Nottingham, and died without iſſue. William, the ſecond ſonne, after the death of his father, was Earle Ferrars, and firſt Earle of Derby. This William, Earle Ferrars, the father, died (as Roger Houeden hath, *fol.*390.b.) at Achon in the Holy Land, in the yeare 1190. And Matthew Paris ſaith, he went to the Holy Land, in the yeare 1095.

(It is set downe by some exquisite Writers, that this Randoll dying without issue, did giue the Title and Earledome of Lincolne, to his sister Auice, the wife of Robert Quincy, in these words, Ranulphus Earle of Lincolne, &c. I would haue it to come vnto the generall knowledge of you all, that I haue giuen and granted, and by this my present writing, confirmed to the the Ladie Hawisia of Quincy, my most deare Sister, the Earledome of Lincolne (viz.) as farre forth as it vnto me belongeth, so that she may thereof be Countesse: to haue and to hold the same of my Lord the King of England, and his heires, vnto the said Hawis, and her heires, the seuenteenth of Henrie the third. Now how this may be made good, I leaue to those of better iudgement then my selfe. And so he the said Robert de Quincy, became Earle of Lincolne; which thing I can hardly beleeue; for that all Honours and titles of Dignities are deriued, and enioyed by the bountie and fauour of the King or Soueraigne; and therefore, that this gift of Randoll to his Sister, could make her Counteſſe, or Robert her husband, Earle of Lincolne, is idle and altogether vntrue.) Hee married first, Constance, daughter of Conan Earle of Britaine and Richmond, (the widdow of Geffrey Plantagenet) from whom he was diuorced, the second of King Iohn; and after married Clemence, daughter of William Fengeres; and to his third wife, he tooke Margaret, daughter of Humfrey de Bohun, Earle of Hereford, but had no issue by any of them. Robert de Bellomont, ſur-named Boſſu, (of his crooked backe) was the ſecond Earle of Leiceſter, after the death of his father; he was Chiefe-Iuſtice of England, in King Henry the ſeconds time, and married Ittam, daughter of Ralph de Waet, Earle of the Eaſt Angels, and had iſſue, Robert Blanchmaynes, the third Earle of Leiceſter, Henry, Geffrey, and Iohn; Iſabell, married to Simon Saint-Lize, Earle of Northampton; and Hawis, married to William, Earle of Gloceſter. This Robert, died in the thirteenth yeere of King Henry the ſecond, and was buried at Leiceſter. About the wife of this Robert Boſſu is ſome queſtion; for William Gemiticenſis pag. 676. who liued in that age, ſetteth downe that hee married Ittam, daughter daughter of Ralph de Waet, Earle of Norwich, and had issue Robert Blanchmaynes, Earle of Leicester. To contradict this: I find that this Robert Bossu and Amicia his wife, in the yeere 1144. did found the Monasterie of Saint Marie de Pratis without the North-gate of Leicester. And also in a Deed of Robert Blanchmaynes, sonne of this Robert Bossu, I find also written. Robert, Earle of Leicester &c. Know yee that I haue giuen and confirmed to the Monkes of Wrokeshall ten shillings rent yeerely for euer, which my father gaue them, for the soule of his father, and his predecessors, and for the soule of Amicia the Countesse my mother, &c. Witnesse, P. Comma, Hugh Camp. William de Chir. Gilbert Charnell, and others.

SIMON de Mountfort (sonne of Simon, Earle Mountfort in France, son of another Simon, Earle Mountfort, and Bertha his wife, daughter of Richard, Earle of Eureux, and Constable of France: which last Simon, was grand-child of Robert, sur-named The holy King of France, by his base sonne Almericke, Earle Mountfort) married Amicia, eldest sister and co-heire of Robert Fitz-Pernell, Earle of Leicester, in whose right he was created Earle of Leicester, and made Lord Steward of England, in the eight yeere of King Iohn, as may appeare by his Charter, dated at Slingesbie, the tenth day of March, 1206. This Simon, with his sonne, was after banished England, and dis-inherited for rebellion against the King, and allying themselues to the French King. He was Generall of the Armie, at the siege of the Citie of Tholouze, who before the Gates thereof, was stricken in the head with a stone shot out of an Engine, whereof he died sodainly; and his brother Almericke, besieging a Castle hard by the said Citie, at the same time, was likewise slaine in the yeere 1218. This Simon had issue by his wife Amicia, Almericke, Earle Mountfort, in France; and Simon, that was after Earle of Leicester, in England.

Simon

Simon de Mountfort, second sonne of Simon Mountfort, Earle of Leicester, and Amicia his wife, hauing compounded and agreed with Almericke his elder brother, for his right and title of the Earledome of Leicester, came into England, and was graciously receiued of King Henry the third, 1235. who did not onely restore to him the Earledome of Leicester, with the Office of Lord Steward of England, but also in the yeere 1237. gaue vnto him in marriage, his sister Elianor, the widdow of William Marshall (the younger) Earle of Penbroke, by whom he had issue, Henry Mountfort, slaine with his father at the battaile of Euersham, in the yeere 1256. Simon Mountfort, Guy and Almericke, were all three banished the Land, by Acte of Parliament; Edward and Richard died young; and Elianor his daughter, was married to Leolyne, Prince of Wales. When the Noblemen of England raised Warre against King Henry the third (for denying to performe the Orders and Decrees made a little before, at a Parliament held at Oxford) this Simon was made their Generall; and at a battaile, strocke neere Lewis in Sussex, hee tooke the King with his brother Richard, Earle of Cornewall, and King of Almaine, with Prince Edward his sonne, prisoners; but Prince Edward escaping, bid the Barons battaile againe at Euersham, where this Simon was slaine, and the Barons ouerthrowne, in the fortieth yeere of the saide Kings reigne. This Simon, the second Earle of Leicester, at the Coronation of Queene Elianor, challenged the Office of Lord Steward of England (in right of Amicia, his mother, daughter of Robert Blanchmaynes, and Pernell his wife, eldest daughter and co-heire of Hugh Grentmesnill) which Roger Bigot, Earle of Norfolke gain-said, alledging, that that Office belonged to him of right, by Alice, the other daughter of Hugh Grentmesnill; to which this Simon answered, That in King Iohns time this controuersie was agreed, That the Earle of Leicester that then was, should giue to the then Earle of Norfolke, ten Knights Fees; for which the Earle of Norfolke did release all his right and claime to the said Office of Lord high Steward of England; Whereunto Earle Roger replied and said, That of those ten Knights Fees, there were yet two and a halfe vnpaid; To which it was answered, That by the Lawes of the Realme, the said Roger might recouer the remainder of those Knights Fees. And so Simon was receiued to execute the said Office, at the Coronation of Queene Elianor.

All which fiue daughters had iſſue. This Iohn, Marqueſſe Mountague, and George, Duke of Bedford, his ſonne, were by Act of Parliament, the ſeuenteenth of Edward the fourth, degraded of all honourable Titles, in theſe words.

Where afore this time, the King our Soueraigne Lord, for the great zeale and loue he bare to Iohn Neuill, late named Marqueſſe Mountague, and other conſiderations him mouing, did erect and make George Neuill, the eldeſt ſonne of

of the ſaid Marqueſſe, to be Duke of Bedford; and at that time, for the great loue his ſaid Highneſſe bare to the ſaid Iohn Neuill, purpoſed and intended to haue giuen to the ſaid George, for ſuſtentation of the ſame dignitie, ſufficient life-lode: And for the great offences, vnkindneſſe, and miſſe-behauing, that the ſaid Iohn Neuill hath done and committed to his ſaid Highneſſe, as is openly knowne, he hath not cauſe to depart any life-lode to the ſaid George. And foraſmuch, as it is openly knowne, that the ſaid George hath not, nor by inheritance may haue any life-lode, to ſupport the ſaid Name, Eſtate, and Dignitie, or any name of Eſtate. And oft-times it is ſeene, that when any Lord is called to high Eſtate, and hath not life-lode conueniently to ſupport the ſaid Dignitie, it induces great pouertie and indigence, and cauſes oft-times great extortion, embracerie, and maintenance to be had, to the great trouble of all ſuch Countries, where ſuch eſtate ſhall hap to be inhabited. Wherefore, the King, by the aduice and aſſent of his Lords Spirituall and Temporall, and the Commons of this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authoritie of the ſame, ordayned, eſtabliſhed, and enacted, that from henceforth, the ſaid Erection and making of Duke, and all the names of Dignitie, giuen to the ſaid George, or to the ſaid Iohn Neuill his father, be from henceforth voide, and of no effect. And that the ſaid George and his heires, from henceforth be no Dukes, nor Marqueſſe, Earle, nor Baron, for no erection, or creation afore made; but of that name of Duke, and Marqueſſe, Earle, and Baron, in him and his heires ceaſſe, and be voide, and of none effect; the ſaid Erection or Creation notwithſtanding. This haue I thought good to mention here, that Noble-men and others may be warned, how they ſell and conſume their ancient Liuings and Patrimonies, left them by their Anceſters, leaſt wanting wherewithall to maintaine their Eſtates, the King degrade and diſable them from bearing any honorable Title, as he did theſe two Noble-men, the father and the ſonne.

Copſo, was made Earle of Northumberland, by William the Conquerour, and was after ſlaine by Oſculph, the late diſinherited Earle of Northumberland, as hee was entring into the Church of Newburne.

Morchar, ſonne of Algar, Duke of Mercia, and brother to Edwin (as witneſſeth Ingulph. fol. 511.) was made Earle of Northumberland by William the Conqueror, after the death of Copſo. This Morchar (with his brother Edwin and others) miſſe-liking of the gouernement of King William, fled the Realme, and returning againe, fortified the Iſle of Ely, and ſeated themſelues in a place called Thorney. But after long ſiege of that place, Morchar was taken priſoner, and ſo kept all William the Conquerours dayes, and died in priſon, in the ſecond yeare of William Rufus. Hee had a ſiſter named Lucia, firſt married vnto Iuo Talboys, a great Baron of Angeo; and after to Roger Romara, Lord of Bullingbroke, by whom ſhee had iſſue, William Romara, Earle of Lincolne: and the third time ſhee married Randal Meſchines, the third Earle of Cheſter, and had iſſue another Randal, ſur-named Gernonijs, the fourth Earle of Cheſter.

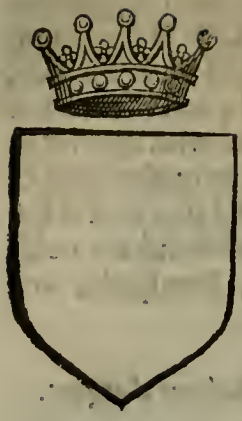
Walcher,



Walcher, Bishop of Durham, borne in Loraine, bought of William the Conqueror, the Earledome of Northumberland, and for a time was Earle thereof, after the death of Waltheof. Hee was a proud and an insolent Prelate, couetous and rich, and was slaine by the Commons at Goatshead, on the Riuer of Tyne, 1079. for denying to doe them Iustice, vnlesse they would first pay vnto him, foure hundred pounds of currant money, as Matthew Paris more at large setteth downe. I pray God we haue no such Bishops Iusticers in this our Age; for the said Matthew further saith, That there were aboue a hundreth persons slaine about this matter.

Robert Mowbray, an honourable Englishman, after the death of Walcher, obtayned of William the Conqueror the Earledome of Northumberland. And after, hauing slaine Malcolme, King of Scots, and his sonne, neere to Anwike, in the yeare 1092. demanded reward for the same; which being neglected, hee was so moued, that when King William Rufus sent his Letters for him, he denyed not onely to come to him, but combined with diuers other Noblemen of the Realme, how to depriue the said King of his Crowne; which being reuealed, he was driuen to flie to the Monasterie of Saint Owin, from whence he was taken by force, and carried to prison, and after, by the Kings commandement, was brought before his owne Castle of Bamborough, and there willed to haue his eyes put out, vnlesse his wife, and Morcal her Kinsman (who were within the said Castle) would yeeld vp the same; which being surrendred, this Robert was sent to be imprisoned in the Castle of Windesore, 1096. (Houeden, fol. 267.) During which time, King William Rufus held the Earledome of Northumberland in his owne hands, and disinherited all the said Roberts Progenie. He was after shorne a Monke at Saint Albons, where he died, the seuenth of King Henrie the first, 1106. The most of his Honours and Lands, were giuen to Lord Nigel de Albeney, Chamberlaine to King William Rufus, for his good seruice done at the battaile of Tenarchbray, where he slue the horse of Robert, Duke of Normandie, tooke him prisoner, and brought him into England, and there deliuered him to the King his brother, who sent him to prison, to the Castle of Cairdiffe in South-Wales, where hee had both his eyes put out, and pined to death with sorrow, in the fiue and thirtieth yeare of King Henrie the first, and was buried at Gloceſter.

Ralphe de Waiet, a Britaine borne, was by the gift of William the Conquerour, the first Earle of the East Angles, (that is to say, Norfolke, Suffolke, and Cambridgeshire) and gaping after an alteration and change in the State, was dispossessed of that Honour and Title, in the ninth yeare of the said Kings Reigne, for conspiring to expell him the said William out of England; which was done at the marriage of this Ralphe, with Emme, the daughter of William Fitz-Osberne, Earle of Hereford, and Marshall of England, and sister to William de Britolio, Earle of Iuory, and Roger Earle of Hereford. There was in this Conspiracie, Waltheof, the great Earle of Northumberland, diuers Bishops, Abbots, and Barons: all which, by the Archbishop Lanfranke were made knowne to William the Conqueror, he being then in Normandy; which caused him with all speed to returne into England: and apprehending the said Waltheof, and Roger Earle of Hereford; Waltheof was beheaded at Winchester, and Roger had his eyes put out, and was kept in prison during his life. This Ralphe de Waiet, keeping the Castle of Norwich, against the loyaltie of William the first, was driuen out of England, and went with his Wife to Ierusalem; leauing behind him one daughter, named Itta, who maried Robert Earle of Leicester, in Anno 1103.

Hvgh Bigot, (Sonne and heire of Roger Bigot, Sewer to King Henrie the first, and Adeliza his Wife, daughter and co-heire of Hugh Grentmesnell, Lord Steward of England) a Noble Baron of this Realme, and Steward of the house to King Henrie the first, being present at the death of the said King, testified vpon his Oath, before the Archbishop of Canterburie, and other the Nobilitie of this Realme, that King Henrie the first, willed vpon his death-bed: that Stephen his Nephew, and not Maud the Empresse (his daughter) should succeed him in the Kingdome of England. For which Oath, King Stephen, in the first yeare of his Reigne,

Hugh

Hvgh Bigot, ſonne of Roger aforeſaid, after the death of his father, was the third Earle of Norfolke of that ſurname; and married Mauld, the eldeſt daughter of William Marſhall, the elder Earle of Penbroke, and Marſhall of England, and one of the fiue ſiſters and co-heires of William Marſhall and his foure brothers, all Earles of Penbroke, and Marſhals of England; and had iſſue, three ſonnes and one daughter: Roger, the eldeſt ſonne, was after his father, Earle of Norfolke, and Marſhall of England; Hugh, the ſecond ſonne, was Chiefe Iuſtice of England, and was ſlaine at Lewes, in the yeare 1264. Ralphe Bigot, the third ſonne, married Bertha, daughter of the Lord Furniuall, and had iſſue, Iohn and Iſabell, who was firſt married to Gilbert Lacie, of Meth in Ireland; and after, to Iohn Fitz-Geffrey, a Baron; and Iſabell, the daughter of this Hugh the Earle, was married to Hugh de Albeneio, Earle of Arundell. The partition of Marſhals Lands, was made in the one and thirtieth yeare of King Henry the third; whereof this Mauld had for her part, a thouſand one hundred and twentie pounds per annum, with the Office and Rod of Marſhall of England, and the Manor and Caſtle of Chepſtow, or Strigull in Wales. She ouer-liued her husband; and in the ſaid one and thirtieth of Henry the third, ſhe gaue the Office and Rod of the Marſhalſhip to Roger her eldeſt ſonne, who was then Earle of Norfolke, and Marſhall of England: and as Matthew Paris hath, this Hugh died at London, the ninth of King Henry the third, 1225.

Milles hath, pag. 504. That he hath ſeene diuers Charters of this Hughes, ſigned and ſealed with a Seale of a Lion paſſant vpon the ſame. Which I greatly maruell at; conſidering, that both the ſaid Hugh, and Roger his father, did vſe and beare in their Shields and Seales, a plaine Croſſe; which is grauen in Stone, and painted on the North ſide of the Cathedrall Church (or Minſter) at Weſtminſter, in the time of King Henry the third, with many other Noblemens Armes, who liued in that time. And further I ſpeake of my owne knowledge, that neuer any of this Noble Family of Bigots did euer giue other Coat of Armes, then Gold, a Croſſe Gueulles, before they married with Marſhals daughter, and were Marſhals of England: At which time, they did aſſume and take a Coat, vſed by William Marſhall Earle of Penbroke, and his ſonnes (who were all Marſhals of England) for the Office of Marſhall; which was, party per pale Or, & Verte, a Lion rampant gueulles: whoſe Anceſtors, before they came to be Marſhall of England, did vſe in their Seales for their Armes, Gueulles a bend fuzelle d'or.

And thus much haue I thought good here to mention, becauſe I ſee in diuers Noblemens Armes, deſcended of the ſaid Bigot, a wrong Coat quartered, neuer vſed by that Family.

Roger

ROger Bigot, ſonne and heire of Hugh Bigot, and Mauld Marſhall, was the fourth Earle of Norfolke, and firſt Marſhall of England, of that Family. To this Roger was granted the Marſhalſhip of England, by Mauld his mother, preſently after the death of Anſelme Marſhall, Earle of Penbroke, (the fift and youngeſt ſonne of William Marſhall the elder, Earle of Penbroke, and Marſhall of England, about the one and thirtieth yeare of King Henry the third) And at the Coronation of Queene Elianor, Wife of King Henry the third, hee made his clayme, to execute the Office of High Steward of England (which hee claymed in right of Adeliza, his great grandmother, daughter and coheire of Hugh Grentmeſnell, High Steward of England:) Which was giue-ſaide by Simon Mountfort, Earle of Leiceſter; for that it was alledged by the ſaid Simon, That at the Coronation of King Iohn, there was an agreement made betweene their Anceſtors, viz. That Robert, Earle of Leiceſters Anceſtor, ſhould pay and giue vnto Roger Bigots Anceſtor ten Knights Fees for the ſame; of which, there were but ſeuen and a halfe payd. Which variance the King tooke into his owne hands, and adiudged Simon Mountfort to execute the Office of High Steward; and that Roger Bigot ſhould bring his Action for the other two Knights Fees and a halfe, remaining vnpayd.

This Roger married Iſabell, daughter of William King of Scots, and ſiſter of King Alexander; and died of a bruiſe, running at Tilt, without iſſue, Anno 1269. leauing Roger his nephew (ſonne of Hugh his brother) to ſucceed him in his Earledome.

ROger Bigot, the fift Earle of Norfolke of that Family, and Marſhall of England, nephew to Roger the fourth Earle of Norfolke, by Hugh Bigot, Chiefe Iuſtice of England, his brother. This Roger Bigot, Gilbert de Clare, Earle of Gloceſter, and Humfrey de Bohun, Earle of Hereford, and Conſtable of England, were commanded by King Edward the firſt, to goe with him into Aquitaine, to the aide of Guy, Earle of Flanders, (whom Charles, the brother of Philip King of France, had at S. Omers in France, a little before, ouercome in ſingle Combate) which they denyed, exeept hee would put in vſe, and reſtore to his ſubiects, the Lawes of Magna Charta; which the ſaid King refuſed to doe: and going on his iourney without them, to the aide of the ſaid Guy, Guy, againſt the French King; at his returne backe againe (for puniſhment of theſe Noblemens contempt) firſt hee cauſed Gilbert de Clare, Earle of Gloceſter, to marry Ioane of Acres, the ſaid Kings daughter, without any Dowry: And Humfrey de Bohun, Earle of Hereford, to marry Elizabeth, the Widdow of Iohn, Earle of Holland, another of the ſaid Kings daughters, with the like conditions. And that this Roger Bigot, Earle of Norfolke, ſhould ſurrender and deliuer vp into the Kings hands all his Lands in England, Wales, and Ireland, with the Office of Marſhall of England; reſeruing vnto himſelfe an eſtate for terme of life, with a thouſand pound more encreaſe, which the ſaid King would allow him; with this prouiſo, That if the ſaid Roger had iſſue lawfully begotten, then he ſhould without all contradiction receiue all from the ſaid King againe, with the encreaſe of a thouſand pounds per annum from the King. Hee married two Wiues: the firſt was Alyna, daughter of Philip Baſſet, and Widdow of Hugh de Spencer, Iuſtice of England. His ſecond Wife was Alice, daughter of Iohn de Auenne, Earle of Henault; and died without iſſue, in the yeare 1305. And by an Inquiſition taken the fourth of December, the fiue and thirtieth of King Edward the firſt, Iohn Bigot was found to be his brother and heire. After the death of this Roger Bigot, Earle of Norfolke, King Edward the firſt did giue the Office of the Marſhalſhip of England, to Thomas of Brotherton, his fift ſonne; whom King Edward the ſecond did create Earle of Norfolke.

THomas Lord Mowbray, (ſonne of Iohn Lord Mowbray, and Elizabeth his Wife, daughter and heire of Margaret, Ducheſſe of Norfolke, and Iohn Lord Segraue, her husband) after the death of Iohn Lord Mowbray, Earle of Nottingham, and Marſhall of England, his brother; was by King Richard the ſecond, created Duke of Norfolke, 1397. and the firſt Earle Marſhall of England (for before this time they were but Lord Marſhals.) This Thomas, with Henry of Bullingbrooke, Earle of Derby, and Duke of Hereford, was baniſhed the Realme, in the two and twentieth yeare of King Richard the ſecond, becauſe hee the ſaid Henry had complained vnto this Thomas Lord Mowbray, of the Kings euill gouernment; of all which, this Thomas made the King acquainted with: and thereupon the King called Duke Henry before him, demanding the truth thereof; which Henry ſtoutly denyed the accuſation, praying to haue the Combate of his accuſer: Thomas Mowbray maintained what before hee had affirmed, and accepted the Challenge. Whereupon the King granted their requeſts, and ſigned a day for triall thereof. At which time, the King being well aduiſed by his Councell, forbid the ſaid Combate, and baniſhed Duke Henry for ten yeares, and Thomas for all the dayes of his life: who trauelling into Italy, and after to Venice, died there with griefe, in the yeare 1400. the firſt of King Henry the fourth, and was there buried. This Thomas his baniſhment, was pronounced that day twelue-moneth that hee had cauſed the good Duke of Gloceſter to bee ſmothered at Callis (as Thomas Walſingham affirmeth.)

Hee married two Wiues: The firſt was Elizabeth, daughter of the Lord Strange, by whom hee had no iſſue. His ſecond Wife was Elizabeth, ſiſter and one of the heires of Thomas Fitz-Alan, Earle of Arundell; by whom hee had iſſue, Thomas Lord Mowbray, beheaded at Yorke, with Richard Scrope, Arch-biſhop of Canterbury, in the yeare 1405. Iohn the ſecond ſonne, was Duke of Norfolke; Margaret the eldeſt daughter, was married vnto Sir Robert Howard, Knight, father of Iohn Duke of Norfolke; Iſabell the ſecond daughter, was firſt married vnto Henry Ferrars of Grobie, and after to Sir Iames Berkeley Knight, father of William, Marqueſſe Berkeley.

Walter Marſhall, fourth ſonne of William Marſhall the elder, with whom King Henry the third (after the death of his brother Gilbert Marſhall) was greatly diſpleaſed, denying him thoſe Honours and Seigneuries belonging vnto him from his Anceſtors, ſaying: That this Walters eldeſt brother William, did reſcue Lewis the French Kings ſonne being in England, that he was not taken priſoner. Secondly, that his Brother Richard was his enemie, and was ſlaine in open field againſt him. And thirdly, that his brother Gilbert that died laſt, had all his dignities reſtored to him by the Kings fauour; and that (contrary to the ſaid Kings Commandement) he went to the Tilting at Hartford, which was held to the Kings diſgrace. But afterwards, the King being well pacified, this Walter was admitted to be Earle of Penbroke, and Marſhall of England, and to haue all other the honours and lands his brothers held and enioyed before. He married Margaret, daughter and co-heyre of Robert Lord Quincy, (ſonne and heyre of Saier de Quincy Earle of Winchester) widdow of Iohn Lacie Earle of Lincolne, by whom he had no iſſue.

Anſelme Marſhall, the fift ſonne of William Marſhall the elder, at the time of his brother Walters death, Deane of Saliſburie, and after admitted to be Earle of Penbroke; and Marſhall of England. Hee married Mauld, daughter of Humfrey de Bohun, Earle of Hereford, and Conſtable of England; and died without iſſue, the two and twentieth of December, being the eighteenth day after the death of his brother Walter; leauing his rich Patrimonie and Inheritance, to bee diuided among his fiue ſiſters and heires before mentioned. I find this Earledome of Penbroke in ancient time, to bee a Countie Palatine, and had all Juriſdiction Regall. And that the Earle had vnder him there, Iuſtices of his owne, a Sheriffe, Steward, Chancellour, Chamberlaine, Coroner, Eſcheter, and diuers other Officers, neceſſarie for a Regall Juriſdiction, all made and appointed by himſelfe. He had Seſſions, and Countie Courts monethly, in which Countie Courts were tried all Reall Pleas whatſoeuer, by originall Writ, vnder the Seale and Name of the ſaid Earle; all Fynes were leuied, and recoueries paſſed, and all Writs made in the Earles name, (and not in the Kings.) He had power to pardon all offences, and had his Chancerie, Court of Common Pleas, and Exchequer, holden within his Caſtle of Penbroke; whereunto all the Inhabitants of that Countrie reſorted, for iuſtice and triall of all their cauſes. Hee erected Townes, and incorporated them with many large and ample liberties. He had all manner of forfeitures and eſcheats whatſoeuer. He had within his Countie, nine Caſtles of his owne, and twelue Seigneuries or Mannors, which were parcell of his Countie. The Juriſdiction royall of this Earledome, remained and was permitted in the Earles themſelues, from the time of the Norman Conqueſt, vntill the ſeuen and twentieth yeare of King Henry the eight. Whereas all other Earles of this Realme, had loſt their Juriſdictions many hundred yeares before, and had but the bare names of their Earledomes. Alſo the ſaid Earles of Penbroke, by Office at the Coronations of the Kings of England, were to carry a paire of gilt Spurres. To end; this Countie is called Penbrokeſhire, of the Towne ſo named; for the word Pen (in Welſh) ſignifieth the head or chiefe part of a thing; and Bro, ſignifieth a Vale or plaine ſoyle, fertile and fit to beare Corne, and not Pembroch, as M^r Camden in his Britannia, pag. 482. would haue it.

Before this Robert, did the Family of Bigots hold Norfolke and Suffolke together, as one Countie. This Robert, and William Mountague, Earle of Saliſbury, were Generals of King Edward the thirds Armie in Flanders, when hee went to make his clayme to the Crowne of France, deſcended to him by his mother, and kept from him by Philip de Valoys, the Vſurper, 1338. Hee ſerued vnder the Blacke Prince, at the Battaile of Poictou, where Iohn the French King was taken priſoner, 1359. and married Margaret, daughter of Sir Iohn Norwich, of Mettingham Caſtle in Suffolke, and Aunt and heire of Iohn her Nephew, (by Walter her brother) by whom hee had iſſue, William Vfford, Earle of Suffolke, and three daughters; Cecily, married to Iohn Lord Willoughby; Katherine, married to Robert Lord Scales; and Margaret, married to William Lord Ferrers of Groby. Hee died in the three and fortieth yeare of King Edward the third.

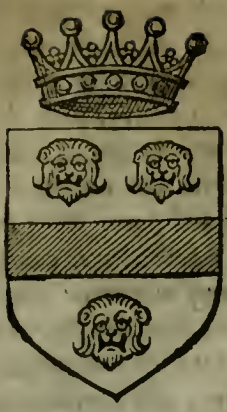
Michael



Michael de la Pole, Knight of the Garter, ſonne and heire of Sir William de la Pole, Banneret, and Katherine his Wife, daughter of Sir Iohn Norwich, Knight, and grand-child to another Sir William de la Pole, Knight. Hee was by King Richard the ſecond made Lord Wingfield, Lord Chancellor of England, and by the ſaid King after created Earle of Suffolke, in the yeare 1385. and had giuen him a thouſand Markes by the yeare, out of the Kings Treaſurie. But when King Richard began to decline, by reaſon of the diſcord of the Nobilitie, the honour of this Michael (being newly rayſed) decreaſed alſo: For by a publike Decree, hee was baniſhed England, the twelfth yeare of the ſaid Kings Reigne, as a great corrupter of the King; in which baniſhment, hee died with griefe at Louaine in Brabant, in Anno 1389. but Thomas Walſingham ſaith, hee died at Paris in France, and was after buried at Hull. Hee married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Iohn Wingfield, Knight, and ſiſter and heire of Sir Thomas Wingfield, of Wingfield Caſtle in Suffolke, Knight, and had iſſue, fiue ſonnes and three daughters: Thomas de la Pole, borne 1366. William, borne 1367. Michael, borne 1368. Richard, borne 1369. and Iohn, borne 1373. Margaret, the eldeſt daughter, married William Lord Ferrers, of Groby; Elizabeth, and Anne.

M. Camden in his Britannia, page 469. affirmeth, That this Michael de la Pole, Earle of Suffolke, was a Marchant of Hull, and ſonne to William de la Pole, Marchant and Maior of Kingſton vpon Hull; That hee was borne of meane Parentage, and that King Edward the third did make him a Banneret; which I hold to be very vntrue: for it was William de la Pole, this Michael Vncles ſonne (they meane) that was the Marchant of Hull, and which did leaue his Paternall Coat of Armes, to beare Azure two barres wauie Argent (as a token of his imployment at Sea.) And for further proofe hereof, this Michael was a Knight of the Garter; which hee could not haue beene at that time, by the Statutes of that Order, had hee not beene a Gentleman of three Diſcents (as hee was;) for his father and grand-father were both Knights. And that it was not this Michael de la Pole, but William his father, which King Edward the third made a Banneret, theſe Letters Patents following will teſtifie.

Edward, by the grace of God King of England, Lord of Ireland, and Duke of Aquitaine, &c. Know you, that when our faithfull and welbeloued Subiect, William de la Pole, preſently after our comming into the parts on this ſide the Sea, hearing and vnderſtanding that our Affaires, for which wee tooke our Iourney, were for want of Money very dangerouſly deferred: And being ſenſible of our Wants, came in perſon vnto vs, and to vs and our followers, hath made and procured to be made ſuch a ſupply of Money, that by his meanes our honour and the honour of our followers (thankes be to God) hath beene preſerued, which otherwiſe had beene expoſed to great danger, &c.

And afterwards, the said William continuing our supply with exceeding Bountie, hath vndertaken the payment of great Summes for vs, to diuerſe persons, for which hee hath engaged himſelfe by Obligations: That if his ayde had not extended to our Confederates, and for our expences, and the ſecuritie of our Subiects, with vs in Brabant; wee could not by any meanes haue beene ſupplyed: But otherwiſe our Iourney (not without our reproach) had beene hindered. By whoſe meanes being thus furthered, wee were to come to Hanowe, neere the Marches of France; from whence, wee could goe no further, without a great ſumme of Money, whereof wee were altogether vnprouided: And when it was held for certaine, that our Iourney was altogether ſtayed; the ſaid William hauing ſtill a care to relieue our extreme neceſsitie, engaged himſelfe and his whole Eſtate, and procured a great ſumme of Money, deliuering vs at that time out of exceeding great Danger.

Wee therefore hauing worthie conſideration of the premiſſes, as alſo of the importable burthen of expences, which the ſaid William hath vndertaken for vs, and at this time doth vndergoe: Therefore wee willing to aduance him in Honour, and to make the Voyage famous; haue adorned him with the Girdle of Knighthood: Commanding him, that hee take vpon him and hold the State and Honour of a Banneret. And that hee may the better, and with more reputation, ſupport the foreſaid Honour and State, both himſelfe and his heires; wee haue graunted to the ſaid William and his heires, within our Realme of England, Lands and Rents, to the value of fiue hundred Markes by the yeare, &c.

Moreouer, for ſo much as the ſaid William, in our ayde, and for the recouerie of our Right of Inheritance within the Kingdome of France, hath moſt liberally expended himſelfe and his Eſtate; wee promiſe and graunt to the ſaid William, That if it ſo fortune, that wee recouer and get our foreſaid Right of Inheritance, wee will giue and aſsigne to him, out of our Lands and Rents ſo recouered, in ſome conuenient place within the ſaid Kingdome, to the value of one thouſand Markes ſterling by the yeare; to haue and to hold, to him and his heires, of vs and our heires for euer.

VVitneſſe Henry, Biſhop of Lincolne, William Northampton, William Salisbury, Robert Suffolke, Earles, Henry de Ferrers, our Chamberlaine, Percy, Steward of our Houſe, and others.

Giuen vnder our hand, at Marcoyne in France, the ſeuen and twentieth of September, in the thirteenth of our Reigne.

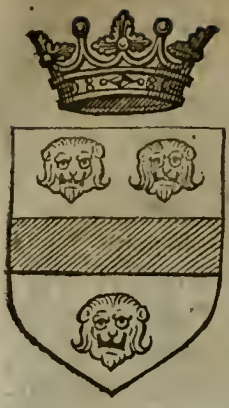
William



William de la Pole, Lord Wingfield, and Earle of Suffolke, (second sonne of Michael, the second Earle of Suffolke of that Family) after the death of Michael, Earle of Suffolke, his elder brother aforesaid, without issue Male, (being Captaine of the Castle and Citie of Auerenges in Normandie) was in the two and twentieth of King Henrie the sixt, created Marquesse of Suffolke, and in the fiue and twentieth yeare of the said Kings reigne, hee was made Earle of Penbroke; and lastly, Duke of Suffolke, in the sixe and twentieth of Henrie the sixt. After all which Honours giuen him, in the yeare 1449. he was banished England for fiue yeares, for being too familiar with Queene Margaret, priuie and consenting to the yeelding and losse of Aniou and Mayne, (as also to appease the murmuring of the people, for the murdering of the Duke of Gloceſter:) and as hee was taking of ship to passe for France, he was surprized and taken on the Sea, by a ship of Warre, called the Nicholas, belonging to the Duke of Excester, then Constable of the Tower of London, and there presently beheaded, and his body cast into the Sea, which was after found and taken vp againe at Douer, and brought to the Colledge at Wingfield in Suffolke, and there honourably buried, the eight and twentieth of Henrie the sixt. He married Alice, daughter and heire of Sir Thomas Chaucer, Knight, sonne of Sir Geffrey Chaucer the Poet, by whom he had issue, Iohn, Duke of Suffolke, and William.

This Edmond vpon a time killed a meane man, which fact King Henrie the ſeuenth pardoned, notwithſtanding hee tooke it ſo ill, that he was arraigned for the ſame. As hee ſhortly after (without the Kings licence) went into Flanders to his Aunt Margaret, Dutcheſſe of Burgundie, but after returning backe againe: hee excuſed himſelfe ſo, as hee obtayned the Kings fauour; and not long after, while Prince Arthurs marriage with Katherine of Spaine, and the peoples heads were occupied with delights; he, with his brother Richard departed the ſecond time into Flanders, againſt the Kings will and knowledge, where he remayned as an exile, hearing that ſome of his friends were put to death, and others committed to perpetuall impriſonment. He wandered vp and downe, both in France and Germanie; but finding no place of reſt or ſafetie, at laſt, yeelding himſelfe into the hands of Philip, Duke of Burgundie and Flanders, and was at length brought into England, and beheaded at Tower-Hill for treaſon, in the yeare 1513. being the fift of King Henrie the eight. The which, in a word I anſwere thus, That if King Henrie the fift did giue the Dukedome of Somerſet to Iohn, the Father of this Margaret, and his Heires male (as hee did) and as commonly all Kings vſe to doe, when they giue the like Honours: (This Iohn dying without iſſue male) the King did no wrong to any, in giuing his owne, to whom and where he pleaſed? and to ſpeake truely, I haue not ſeene but one Letters Patents otherwiſe, which was by King Henrie the eight to Sir Thomas Bullen, Knight, who had the Earledome of Wiltſhire, to him and his heires male of his body, and the Earledome of Ormond, to him and his heires for euer. And this I hope ſhall be ſufficient, to proue that King Henrie the ſixt did no wrong to this Margaret, in giuing her Fathers Title of Honour to his brother, nay, had hee giuen it to a meere ſtranger, it had beene iuſtifiable.

Hee writ in his Stile; Humfrey, Duke of Buckingham, Earle Stafford, Hereford, and Northampton, Lord of Brecknock and Holderneſſe. This Humfrey, in the eight yeare of King Henry the fift, did his homage at Roan, for the Earledome of Perch; and at the ſame time, Arthur Duke of Britaine did the like for the Earledome of Yurye. Hee married Anne, daughter of Ralphe Neuill, firſt Earle of Weſtmerland; and had iſſue, Humfrey, frey, Earle Stafford, who married Margaret, ſiſter and co-heire of Edmond Beaufort, Duke of Somerſet, and was wounded with an Arrow, at the firſt battaile at Saint Albons, the three and thirtieth of Henrie the ſixt, of which wound he died the yeare after, in the life time of his father, 1455. Iohn, the ſecond ſonne, was created Earle of Wiltſhire; and Richard, the third ſonne, was ſlaine with the fall from a Horſe; George and William were twins, and died both young: Anne, the eldeſt daughter, was firſt married to Aubrey de Vere, ſonne and heire of Iohn, Earle of Oxford, and had no iſſue; after ſhee married Sir Thomas Cobham, Knight, ſonne of Reginald, Lord Cobham of Sterborough, and had iſſue; Anne, the ſecond daughter, was firſt married to William, Lord Bardolph, and after to Sir William Kniuet, Knight; and Katherine, the third daughter, married Iohn, Lord Talbot, Earle of Shrewsburie. This Humfrey was ſlaine at the battaile of Northampton, in the eight and thirtieth yeare of King Henrie the ſixt, and his body buried in the Grey Fryars in Northampton. Hee bare for his Armes, France and England quarterly, within a bordure argent; which was the Armes of Thomas of Woodſtocke, his grand-father by his mother.

HEnrie, Lord Stafford, Knight of the Garter, (ſonne and heire of Humfrey, Earle Stafford, by Margaret his wife, ſiſter and co-heire of Edmond Beaufort, Duke of Somerſet) grand-child to Humfrey Stafford, the firſt Duke of Buckingham, and Anne Neuill his wife; was after the death of his ſaid grand-father, the ſecond Duke of Buckingham, Earle Stafford, Hereford, and Northampton, Lord of Brecknock, Kimbalton, and Tunbridge, Knight of the Garter, and Conſtable of England; who falling in diſlike with King Richard the third, laboured the returne of Henrie, Earle of Richmond, out of France. Diuers Authors diuerſly report the cauſe thereof; but one amongſt the reſt ſaith, that Humfrey, the tenth Earle of Hereford, Northampton, and Eſſex, and Conſtable of England, in King Richard the ſeconds time, had two daughters his heires; Elianor, the eldeſt, married to Thomas of Woodſtocke, Duke of Gloceſter; and Mary, the ſecond daughter, married to Henrie, Earle of Derby (after King, by the name of Henrie the fourth) whoſe iſſue being ſpent and ended in Prince Edward, ſonne of King Henrie the ſixt; this Henrie Stafford, Duke of Buckingham, made claime to that part of Humfrey de Bohuns Lands, which before were conueyed to Mary the ſecond daughter (they being then in the Crowne) for that this Duke Henrie was then the onely heire both of Elianor and Mary. At which claime and demand, King Richard the third was greatly offended, and ſaid; Will you (Duke Henrie) challenge the right of King Henrie the fourth, by which hee wrong- wrongfully held the Crowne, and so make way vnto it? Which speech of the King, went so neere to the Dukes heart, that euer after, hee sought and plotted, how he might worke the returne of Henrie, Earle of Richmond, out of France, and to depriue King Richard of his Crowne. And to effect the same, he raised diuers forces, and entred into Armes; which King Richard hearing of, leuied a greater, and went to Salisburie to meete him; but the Dukes Armie being too weake, he was forced to flie for succour to the house of Humfrey Banister, his seruant, neere Shrewesburie, who for hope of gaine, betrayed him to Iohn Mitton, Shireffe of Shropshire, who tooke and conueyed him to Salisburie, where without any arraignment or lawfull triall, he was beheaded the second of Nouember, 1483. This Duke Henrie married Katherine, sister and one of the heires of Richard Wooduill, Earle Riuers, and had issue, Edward, Earle Stafford, and Duke of Buckingham; Henrie, Earle of Wiltshire; and Humfrey, that died yong. He had also two daughters, Elizabeth, married to Robert Radcliffe, Lord Fitz-Walter, and Earle of Sussex; and Anne, first married to Sir Walter Herbert, Knight, and after to George, Lord Hastings, Earle of Huntington.

This Iohn was one of the Noble-men, which King Henrie the third commanded to assemble at London, to treate of diuers matters. Amongst which, one was, that all men should shewe before the Iustices of the Kings Bench, by what right they held their Lands; which thing did much molest and disquiet the Subiects, vntill this Iohn made his appearance, who being asked by what right hee held his Lands, sodainly drew out his sword, and said; By the sword did my Grand-father hold his Lands; and with this will I keepe them. But Alan Zouch, Lord Chiefe-Iustice, told him, That if hee could yeeld no other reason, iudgement would be giuen against him: whereupon, the said Earle immediately before the Iudges, did cruelly wound and hurt the said Alan; of which wound, he shortly after died. For which murder, the said Iohn, Earle Warren, Surrey, and Sussex, was arraigned, and acquitted by the oath of fiue and twentie Knights: in that hee affirmed vpon his Honour, that he did not commit the said fact vpon any pretenced malice, neither in contempt of the King, nor his Lawes; but onely in defence of his ancient Inheritance; and so was released, vpon payment of a Fine of one thousand and two hundred Markes, in Anno 1270. After, King Edward the first, in the fiue and twentieth yeare of his Reigne, made this Iohn, Earle Warren and Sussex, Gouernour of Scotland; Sir Hugh Cressingham, Lord Treasurer; and William Earnley, Chiefe-Iustice. Hee married Alice, daughter of Hugh le Brun, Earle of the Marches of Aquitaine, and halfe sister to King Henrie the third, by whom he had issue, as in the Title of Surrey. A Catalogue of the Earles of Surrey, their Armes, Wiues, and Children.

William de Warren, ſonne of William de Warren, a Norman, begotten of the daughter of Herfaſtus the Dane. This William, with Roger Mortimer his younger brother, came into England with William the Conqueror, whoſe daughter Gundred, the ſaid William married, and had giuen him in marriage with her, all Chirckland, Bromfield and Yale; and after was by the ſaid Conqueror made Earle of Surrey, and Lord of Dinaſbrayne in Wales. Hee built the Caſtle of Holt, and founded the Priory of Lewis in Suſſex; and had iſſue by the Counteſſe Gundred his wife, VVilliam de VVarren, the ſecond Earle of Surrey; and a daughter named Gundred; and after died, the eight of the Kalends of Iuly, 1088. the firſt of King VVilliam Rufus, and was buried at Lewis. His wife Gundred died in child-bed at Caſtle-Acre in Norfolke, the ſixt of the Kalends of Iune, 1085. three yeares before her husband, and was buried alſo at Lewis. About this VVilliams Creation, and who made him Earle of Surrey, there hath beene ſome queſtion, (which here I hope to giue ſatisfaction of) M. Camden in his Britannia ſetteth downe, that King VVilliam Rufus made him Earle, and not William the Conqueror: and for his authority, voucheth the ſaid William de Warrens Charter, of the Foundation of the Priory of Lewis, (as he ſaith) in theſe words.

Donaui &c. pro ſalute Domini mei Willielmi Regis qui me in Angliam adduxit, & pro ſalute Dominæ meæ Matildis Reginæ matris vxoris meæ, & pro ſalute Domini mei Willielmi Regis filij ſui, poſt cuius aduentum in Anglicam terram, hanc Chartam feci, & qui me Comitem Surregiæ fecit, &c.

Againſt which vnperfit note, take this out of the Originall Booke of Lewis, which I hope will ende this Controuerſie, and cleare the doubt.

Willicl-

Willielmus de Warren primus Comes Surrey, & fundator Eccleſiæ Lewenſis diem ſuum clauſit extremum viij. Kal. Iulij, Anno gratiæ 1088. & fundationis Eccleſiæ prædictæ xj. & à Conqueſtu xxiij. Iſte jacet in Capello Lewenſis iuxta Dominam Gundradam Comitiſſam ſuam, & filiam prædicti Regis Conqueſtoris, &c.

By this it is manifeſtly proued, that VVilliam the Conquerour (and not VVilliam Rufus) did create and make this VVilliam de Warren, the firſt Earle of Surrey. Alſo it is to be remembred, that the Counteſſe Gundred died three yeares before her huſband, and two yeares before her father; and how could ſhee then haue the Title and Name of Counteſſe, vnleſſe her huſband had beene an Earle before ſhee died, in VVilliam the Conquerours time?

HEnry Beauchamp, sonne of Richard aforesaid, was after the death of his father, the seuenteenth Earle of Warwicke and of Albemarle, Baron of Elmesley, Hanslape, Spencer, and Aburgauenny, and Knight of the Garter. And in the twentieth yeare of King Henry the sixt, he was restored to all his Liuings, with great applaud and honour, being crowned King of the Isle of Wight, by the Kings owne hands, and made chiefe Earle of England. And in the yeare 1444. being the three and twentieth of the said Kings Reigne, hee was created Duke of Warwicke, and had granted him in all meetings and assemblies, both in Parliament and elsewhere, to haue place and precedence next after the Duke of Norfolke, and before the Duke of Buckingham. Hee had giuen him also the Castle of Bristow, with the appurtenances, and the Isles of Gernsey and Iarsey. He married Cicely, daughter of Richard Neuill, Earle of Salisburie, and sister of Richard Earle of Warwicke, and had issue, one onely onely daughter and heire, name Anne, being but two yeares old at his death. Shee was Ward to William de la Pole, Duke, Marqueſſe, and Earle of Suffolke; and died in the yeare 1449. being but ſixe yeares of age, and was buried at Reading; and Henrie her father died at Hanley, the place of his birth (being not full two and twentie yeares old, in the yeare of our Lord 1446. and was buried at Tewkesburie) as Iohn Rous of Warwicke hath.

Richard Neuill, ſonne and heire of Richard Neuill, Earle of Salisburie, married Anne, daughter of Richard Beauchamp, the ſixteenth Earle of Warwicke, by his ſecond wife, and ſiſter & ſole heire of the whole blood of Henrie Beauchamp, Duke of Warwicke aforeſaid; in whoſe right this Richard Neuill, in the eight and twentieth yeare of King Henrie the ſixt, was the eighteenth Earle of Warwicke; and by that Name and Title ſate in Parliament held at Weſtminſter, the three and thirtieth of the ſaid Kings Reigne; and in the nine and thirtieth yeare of Henrie the ſixt, his father being dead, was alſo Earle of Saliſbury and Lord Monthermer, great Chamberlaine and Admirall of England, Lord Warden of the North Marches towards Scotland, and of the Cinque-Ports, Captaine of Callis, and high Steward of the Duchy of Lancaſter.

At what time this Richard was ſent into France, to treat a marriage for King Edward the fourth, King Edward fel in loue, and married Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Wooduile, Earle Riuers (the widdow of Sir Iohn Grey) which procured great hatred betweene this Earle and the King. Which diſgrace, this Richard being not able to digeſt, plotted a confederacy with George, Duke of Clarence, King Edwards brother, for to reſtore King Henrie the ſixt: and aſſembling his forces at Banbury, he ouerthrew King Edward in battaile, and tooke him priſoner. But King Edward within a while after (by the helpe of his Friends) made an eſcape from out the Caſtle of Banbury, wherein he was priſoner, and began a new war at Stamford, where he was Conquerour, and enforced this Earle Richard to flie into France. But within ſixe moneths after, he returned againe into England, and enforced King Edward to flie into Flanders, to Charles Duke of Burgundie, who had married his ſiſter; ſetting King Henrie at libertie, after ten yeares impriſonment.

After all which, King Edward (by the aſſiſtance of his ſaid brother of Burgundie) came into England againe, and waging battaile againſt King Henries faction, at Barnet, ten miles from London, vanquiſhed his enemies, and ſlue this Richard, and his brother Iohn, Marqueſſe Mountague, in the yeare 1471. being Eaſter day. And this was the end of this great Edward Plantagenet, ſonne and heire of George Duke of Clarence, and Nephew to King Edward the fourth, was after the death of his Father, Earle of Saliſbury, and the twentieth Earle of Warwicke, and the aſt heire male of the Family of Plantagenets. He was a child of moſt diſaſtrous fortune, as the Creature, who had from his Cradle beene nurſed vp in Priſon, and his fatall day was haſtened by another mans folly. For a certaine youth of meane parentage, was ſuborned by a Knaue Prieſt, to take vpon him, the name and perſon of this Earle Edward; giuing it out, that hee had lately eſcaped out of the Priſon, in the Tower of London. This bruit cauſed a great tumult amongſt the Commons, who then were glad to heare, that a branch of the Plantagenets was to be reſtored to the Imperiall Diadem. But the truth was, that Edward Earle of Warwicke, had complotted with Perkin Warbeck (as it was ſaid) to make an eſcape: the which attempt was then held no leſſe a crime then high Treaſon it ſelfe. But the plot being diſcouered, the ſilly yong Nobleman, was brought to his Tryall for the ſame, the twentie one of Nouember (Iohn Earle of Oxford, being then appointed Lord high Steward of England) and found guiltie, and for the ſame, the eight and twentieth day of Nouember after, in the fifteenth yeare of King Henry the Seuenth, was beheaded at the Tower-Hill. His bodie being conueyed to Biſham, was there buried, hee being then twentie foure yeares of age, 1499.

This Arthur died in the Tower of London, where he was buried, the firſt day of March, in the three and thirtieth of Henrie the eight. He bare for his Armes, Eſcartelle France & d'Engleterre, contr' eſcartelle le ſecond & tiers Vlſter, qui eſt d'or a la croix de gueulles, le quart Mortuo-Mari, qui eſt burelle de ſix pieces d'or & d'azur a chef de la premier deux paletts entre deux baſe equires de la ſecond, ſur la tout a vn eſchuchon d'argent, a la cottice ſineſtre de meſme.

Here is to bee noted, that Kings illegitimate children, anciently were writ and named Baſtards, and did beare and vſe their Fathers Armes with the difference of Baſtards, and their iſſue after did not diſdayne to continue the ſame to poſteritie. Why then ſhould any now of meaner ranke, enuy to be named and ſet downe with their right Armes and Marke, being of that kinde : nay, why ſhould they not bee forced to carry their true Armes with their difference.

Did not Lewis the eleuenth, King of France, manifeſt and acknowledge his two baſe daughters, the one married to the Admirall of Bourbon, and the other to the Lord of Saint Vilier, and licenced them to beare his Armes, with a Baſtards difference : which if you doubt of, reade this following.

LEWIS, by the grace of GOD, King of France, To all to whom this preſent Letter ſhall come, greeting : Hauing of late treated and accorded, the marriage of Our deare and louing baſe Daughter, Mary, with Our deare and faithfull Couſin, Aymard of Poictiers, Lord of Saint Valier, Wee haue thought it expedient to appoint the Armes which it ſhall pleaſe Vs Our ſaid Daughter ſhall carry : Wee therefore giue to vnderſtand, that being aſſured that the ſaid Mary, is truely Our baſe Daughter, and deſiring to honour her and her Poſteritie, that Shee may enioy the Honours, Dignities, and Prerogatiues, which belong to a Baſtard of a Prince, for the great loue and affection which Wee beare her : Wee will, and ordayne, by theſe Preſents, that the ſaid Mary, Our baſe Daughter, carry the Armes of France, and for a difference, a Baſton ſineſtre d'or, as baſe children haue accuſtomed to beare, for the which Wee haue, and doe giue her power and authoritie for euer : In witneſſe whereof, Wee haue cauſed Our Seale to be ſet to theſe Preſents : Giuen at Meſlay, the eleuenth of Inly, 1467. and of Our Reigne the ſixt.
